REBELS FORCED BY HOPELESS ODDS TO GIVE UP THE FIGHT

Greek Revolution on Mainland Ended When General and Eight Rebel Staff Officers Surrender to Bulgarian Authorities—Court-Martial Facing Hundreds of Insurgent Officers

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press.)
SALONIKA, Greece, March 11.—Hopelessly outnumbered by Government forces, General George Kamasos and eight rebel staff officers in command of the Macedonian campaign, fled to Bulgaria today and surrendered to military authorities of that country, bringing the revolution on the Greek mainland to an end after eleven days.

Kamasos, surrendered at Petritan, former headquarters of the notorious Macedonia terrorist, Ivan Mihailoff, now believed to be in Turkey.

IN FULL LIGHT
Helpless and hopeless, several thousands of ragged, half-famished rebel soldiers are now in full flight toward Thessalonika, where, it was expected, they will surrender.

This dramatic denouement to the swift-moving Greek drama on land came simultaneously with the surrender of one of the rebels' principal battleships, the cruiser Helle, which is now en route to Salonika with a white flag flying from a mast under guard of Government airplanes.

What the aftermath of the revolution may be even the Greeks themselves shrink from contemplating. Court-martial undoubtedly faces hundreds of rebel officers of the army and navy, and the firing squad is a possibility.

Former Premier Venizelos himself, whom the government regards as a Continued on Page 6, Column 4

NATIONAL BANK NOW OPERATING

Business Starts at All Branches Across Dominion—Gold Taken Over

OTTAWA, March 11 (CP).—The Bank of Canada took over at 10 o'clock today the direction of the currency and gold machinery of the Dominion. The functions were previously performed by the Department of Finance. The first discount rate announced was 2½ per cent. This is the rate at which the Central Bank will advance to the chartered banks or discount their securities.

The discount rate is the same for the first day as the Department of Finance had charged the banks. The rate of the Federal Reserve Bank in New York today is 3½ per cent and the rate in London is 2 per cent.

DIRECTORS MEETING

Changes in the discount rate are made only at a meeting of the executive board of the board of directors. The executives met at least once a week and at directors at least four times a year. Frequent changes in the rate are unlikely, but any movement will be promptly made public, officials said. The first weekly balance sheet will be issued probably on Thursday. It will show the balance as on Wednesday of each week.

Business of the new bank opened all the way across Canada today with each provincial office. The Assistant Receiver-General, becoming an agency of the new bank. In Ottawa, the main money market, day was taking over $10,000,000 in gold held in the Dominion Treasury, and transferring to the Bank of Canada some $150,000,000 in 3 per cent five-year Dominion bonds, which will compensate the bank for assuming responsibility for the Dominion notes.

Ask More Questions About Tourists

Citizens are taking advantage of the offer to answer questions relative to the Tourist Trade Development Association, at the 14th meeting at the Royal Victoria Theatre next Friday night. The answers will be given from the stand by T. H. Balick, general secretary, provided that they are sent into the association offices or either newspaper before the date of the meeting.

Here are three more questions: Miss Beth Grimsom asks: "We have had many schemes that were profitable for their promoters; is this tourist trade movement just one more of the same sort?"

V. G. Clark wants to know: "Your association talks about new and better roads and seeks to raise a fund of $40,000; how many roads of hard surfaced road can you lay with this sum?"

WHITE PAPER IS DEFENDED

Government Leaders Justify Policy—Labor's Motion Overwhelmed

LONDON, March 11 (CP).—A Labor motion censuring the Government was defeated, 424 to 79, tonight, in the House of Commons after a debate lasting more than seven hours on the Government's defence policies.

An amendment moved by Sir Austen Chamberlain was adopted, 412-78, and then carried as a substantive motion, 387-76. Sir Austen's amendment expressed faith in the League of Nations, but said arms limitation could not be obtained by unilateral disarmament. Labor and Liberal Opposition speakers criticized the increased expenses. The Labor motion, moved by Clement Attlee, declared that "gravely jeopardized the prospect of any disarmament convention."

WHOLLY FOR LEAGUE

Concluding debate for the Government, Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, stated with the full authority of the Government, that "our policy is based unalterably upon membership in the League of Nations."

"Far from reverting to the method of outlook which prevailed before the consultative system was established, the vital purpose of the present negotiations is to secure conditions in which Germany might return to the League," he said. "We are convinced there is no security for the world comparable with the effective working of a real universal League of Nations."

Stanley Baldwin, Government leader in the absence of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, denied the White Paper implied any abandonment of the collective security.

Nearly 2,000 claims are reported staked. Col. Jim Cornwall, now in the city, and Pilot R. J. Groom, who returned from the northern area Sunday by airplane, stress the importance of the new district.

Pilot Groom brought back with him a large number of applications for record for prospectors and mining men.

McGeer to Demand Government Sanction For Cut in Interest

Will Act on Own If Authority Refused, Says Vancouver Mayor in Deferring Action by City Council—Bradshaw's Work Completed

VANCOUVER, March 11 (CP).—His report on the Vancouver financial situation completed, Thomas Bradshaw, of Toronto, intends to leave the further solution of the city's problems in the hands of Mayor G. G. McGeer and the city council.

"I have done my duty and it is for Mayor David Leeming of that city. On Wednesday he expects to return to Vancouver and leave immediately for Toronto."

The Bradshaw report met severe criticism, chiefly from Mr. McGeer, as it was considered by the City Council. "It is not a practical, reasonable or available solution to our difficulties," the mayor said. Although the report contained no recommendation for a reduction in interest rates, the mayor said he intended to leave for Victoria tonight for a conference with

SAMUEL INSULL WINS ACQUITTAL

Former Utilities Head Found Not Guilty of Embezzlement Charge

CHICAGO, March 11 (AP).—A criminal court jury tonight acquitted Samuel Insull, Sr., of a $66,000 embezzlement charge.

It was the second victory the former utilities magnate has won as a result of charges growing out of the collapse of his toppled light and power colossus.

Insull was charged with taking $66,000 of Middle West Utility Company funds to bolster a dwindling brokerage account of his brother, Martin, then president of the company.

A Federal court jury had previously acquitted Insull of a mail fraud charge in connection with the collapse of his utility empire.

CLOCK CHANGE GIVEN HOIST

City Council Decides to Wait Until Next Meeting Before Voting Again

Victoria's proposed daylight saving by-law was given a hoist by the City Council last evening when it was decided to ignore a vote taken on the proposal, because Aldermen P. R. Brown and Alex Peden were not at the meeting.

Alderman Archie Willis spoke at length on daylight saving and its advantages to indoor workers, gardeners, children and followers of outdoor sport.

Aldermen Andrew McGavin, James Adam, J. A. Worthington and Walter Luney voted with Alderman Willis for the proposal.

Aldermen Dr. J. D. Hunter, R. A. C. Dewar, T. W. Hawkins and Mayor David Leeming were against the motion.

MANY STRIKE IN U.S. PORTS

Walkout of Sailors From Oil Tankers Threatens to Spread Elsewhere

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11 (AP).—Strike trouble brewed anew along Pacific Coast waterfronts today as a walkout of sailors from oil tankers spread and threats of a blockade against general cargo ships were heard.

Pickets again paced in front of docks, reminiscent of the bitter three-month maritime strike of last Summer, which culminated in mass walkouts of union labor in San Francisco Bay cities.

Longshoremen, whose militant blockade started last Summer's turbulent and at times bloody conflict, added to the growing unrest when they refused to load flour on the freighter Admiral Fulton at Seattle.

MANY TANKERS TIED UP

Tankers were tied up at Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, San Pedro, San Diego and Long Beach, and officials of the Sailors' Union of the Pacific said crews would be called off other oil ships as they reached port.

PRICE CHANGES BEING PROBED

Official of Canadian Company Examined by U.S. Securities Commission

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 11 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange Commission today put before Nathan L. Amster, New York attorney and official of a Canadian mining company, a report purporting to show that he bought heavily on the stock after a director's letter had been interpreted harshly by stockholders.

The hearing, involving stock transactions in the Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting & Power Co. Ltd., of British Columbia, was the first the commission has held relative to stock transactions of directors in their own corporations.

PROTECTING OTHERS

Amster declared that he went into the market to protect other people.

The letter, described by the commission as a "pessimistic" tone, said the directors felt the principal operating company of Granby should be closed. The letter, said Thomas Lynch, commission counsel, was received about November 9, 1934.

Lynch introduced records to show that Amster bought 16,000 of the 37,400 shares traded in between November 9 and November 21, inclusive.

VIOLENT FLUCTUATION

The stock fell quickly from $6.13 to $4 following this letter, Lynch's report said, then advanced somewhat, and finally jumped up to $7.75, when the company, on Amster's suggestion, sent out another letter calling attention to the fact that the company had quick assets worth $10.40 a share.

International Air Trophies Are Awarded

PARIS, March 11 (AP).—C. W. A. Scott, British pilot of the winning airplane in last Fall's London-to-Melbourne air race, was awarded the Harmon International Trophy of the International League of Aviators yesterday.

GERMANY TURNS CIVILIAN AIR UNITS INTO DEFENCE CORPS

Becomes Chairman of Finance Body

ALDERMAN DR. J. D. HUNTER

WHO last night was appointed chairman of the civic finance committee by Mayor David Leeming, replacing in that post Alderman P. R. Brown. The latter tendered his resignation from that office owing to ill health.

DR. J. D. HUNTER IS FINANCE HEAD

Replaces Ald. P. R. Brown as Chairman of Standing Committee

Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter was appointed by Mayor David Leeming last evening to the post of chairman of the finance and legislative committee of the City Council, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Alderman P. R. Brown.

Henry G. S. Heisterman will take Alderman Brown's place as city representative on the board of directors of the Jubilee Hospital.

No appointment was made to fill Alderman Brown's post of acting Mayor.

ALD. BROWN'S LETTER

The letter read by Mayor Leeming to the City Council from Alderman Brown was as follows:

"Please accept this letter as my resignation from the position of chairman of the finance and legislative committee, also as the city representative on the board of directors of the Jubilee Hospital."

"I regret very much having to relinquish these duties, but considerations of health compel me to take this step. I will, of course, be glad to carry on as a member of the finance and legislative committee and also accept any other duty which I am able to carry out."

Mayor Leeming referred to Alderman Brown's chairmanship of the finance committee for seven years as one of the most important committee positions.

All aldermen present expressed in hoping that Alderman Brown's health would be restored.

His resignation was tendered upon advice of his physician after a visit to California, from which he returned late last week.

Open Training of Aviators And Expansion Is Planned

BERLIN, March 11 (AP).—Germany's civilian "air sport" association was placed under direct orders of the Reichswehr (regular army) department today, thus becoming part and parcel of the Reich's defensive forces. By this action the air clauses of the Treaty of Versailles were said on good authority to have been swept aside.

ALLOWS FOR ADJUSTMENT

Three Months Given Before Labor-Limiting Law Becomes Effective

OTTAWA, March 11 (CP).—Canadian industry will have a period of three months in which to adjust itself before the Federal eight-hour day and forty-eight-hour week legislation becomes effective, Labor Minister Wesley Gordon announced tonight in the House of Commons.

Although the act will become operative as soon as passed by Parliament, three months will elapse before penalties will be assessed for infractions.

The House took three minutes today to give second reading to the bill, but ran into snags in committee stage after a three-and-one-half-hours discussion. It will be debated later in the week after the Labor Minister has drafted two or three amendments.

SOME REDRAFTING

Nine of the eleven clauses passed through committee stage, but those remaining were most important. The Labor Minister said he would redraft two clauses empowering the Government to exclude industries which would be impeded or penalized by the eight-hour day.

The Labor Minister turned down a suggestion from Liberal Leader Mackenzie King to use the three-month period to test validity of the legislation before the Supreme Court of Canada. Liberals have contended all along that the bill is beyond the competency of Parliament, but Conservatives have been just as determined in the opposite opinion.

Victorians Injured in California

EUREKA, Cal., March 11 (AP).—Mrs. Lydia Robson, fifty-seven, of 1158 Pandora Avenue, Victoria, B.C., received serious throat lacerations, when an automobile driven by her son, Basil, hit a tree south of here on the Redwood Highway today.

Mrs. Robson was also badly bruised, as was her son. The son said an eight-truck forced him off the highway. Physicians at the St. Lucia Hospital, to which Mrs. Robson and her son were taken, said they will recover.

Flare-Up in House Over Increases in B.C. Public Outlay

Two Senior Liberals Attack Estimates as Presented and Call for Drastic Reduction in Costs—Salary Increases Cause Upset

FRANK recognition that British Columbia's budget is unbalanced by millions this year, and a drive by two of the senior Liberals in the House to have the Supply Bill amended and resubmitted with drastic reductions in outlays, featured the first extended sitting of the Legislature yesterday as a Committee on Supply. A. M. Manson, K.C. (Liberal, Omineca), and Dr. J. J. Gillis (Liberal, Yale), chairman of the Liberal caucus, attacked the estimates of expenditure as presented, without mincing words.

The break in caucus solidarity increases for three senior officials came after votes for debt, legislation, agriculture, lands and most of the appropriations in the Department of Finance had been passed by the House unchanged. The House was more than halfway through the current estimates, after lengthy objection by various members of the official Opposition, when Mr. Manson electrified the discussion by opposing

The change, effective as from today, became known in foreign official circles. Military attaches of signatory powers of the Treaty of Versailles, it was reported, will be called together on March 23 and informed of the change.

Germany is forbidden a military air defence corps under the treaty.

OFFICIAL INTIMATION

An official intimation was given in advance to British and Italian air attaches today that Germany now possesses an air defence corps. Officials of the department of General Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Minister of Air, were represented in other quarters as believing the psychological moment has arrived for announcing the new development.

A non-German Government official said subsequent steps, as now planned, will be the naming of a complete corps of officials, the completion of a number of air fields throughout the Reich, the open training of aviators, whose previous drill has been sub rosa, and finally to purchase whatever airplane parts Germany desires from foreign countries.

PREMIER HAS NEED OF REST

Liberal Leader Expresses Regret in House at His Serious Condition

OTTAWA, March 11 (CP).—Regret at the illness of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and hopes for "a speedy and complete recovery," coupled with an offer to co-operate in any way possible with the Government during his absence, was expressed in the House of Commons today by Liberal Leader Mackenzie King.

The occasion for this first direct reference in the House to the Prime Minister's illness came when Sir George Perley, Acting Leader of the Government, read a bulletin issued early today by Mr. Bennett's physician. This described the Prime Minister's condition and told of a cardiac disturbance which, although it had disappeared, would necessitate a period of rest.

EXPRESSES REGRET

"I hasten to say to my right honorable friend that I am sure all honorable members of this House will learn with very deep regret that the Prime Minister's condition is as serious as is indicated in the communication. Just 'read,' said Mr. King. "We will all hope with the Acting Leader of the Government and honorable gentlemen opposite that by taking the rest which his physician has advised the Prime Minister may have not only a speedy but also a complete recovery and that soon he may be back in this House again."

"May I, on behalf of the Prime Minister, thank the right honorable gentleman for his kind words," Sir George replied. "I shall certainly see that they are placed before the Prime Minister at the earliest opportunity."

SIX YOUNG MEN DROWN IN LAKE

Car Plunges Through Thin Ice as Driver Attempts to Take Short Cut

STURGEON BAY, Wis., March 11 (AP).—A floating hat and grappling hooks today told the tragic story of a short cut for home that led six young men to death in the icy waters of Green Bay.

Impatient to be home after a night here, the six turned their automobile off the longer route yesterday, apparently bent on saving time by driving close to thin ice near Flame Island.

Suddenly the machine broke through and disappeared in eighty feet of water.

Legislature Views Current Estimates In Bill of Supply

One-Third of Current Budget Approximately Made Up of Interest on Public Debt—Outlay From Revenue $22,384,303 This Year

SITTING in Committee of Supply, the Legislature yesterday began detailed consideration of estimates. One-third of the current normal outlay had previously been ratified, when the House voted $7,167,300 for the public debt, leaving $15,217,000 in departmental votes and other appropriations under review. Progress was reported.

Estimated expenditure on current and capital account, from revenue, is placed at $22,384,303 for 1935-36. This compares with $22,384,303 last year, or an increase of $774,666. Deductible from the increase are sinking funds on securities held in Britain under special statutes, for which $224,052 will be provided.

The main body of the sinking funds, in excess of $2,000,000, are not set up, while cost for relief and emergent purposes have never been included in current estimates. The votes show $983,000 for interest on treasury bills outstanding, and an item of $150,000 for charges on future borrowings.

AGRICULTURE

Estimated expenditure in the Department of Agriculture is shown at $270,814, little changed from $271,246 last year, but up slightly from $257,241 in the year previous. The votes for this year, with last year's figures in parentheses, follow:

Minister's office, $10,594 (unchanged); general office, $29,048 ($27,929); markets branch, $6,280 (unchanged); horticultural branch, $42,426 ($43,885); plant pathology, etc., $16,807 ($16,427); live stock branch, $98,114 ($88,456); field crop, etc., $17,497 ($19,117); women's institutes, $6,496 ($5,469); exhibitions, $2,508 (unchanged); soil survey, $4,033 (unchanged); miscellaneous votes, $45,532 ($46,033); statutory, $500; total, $270,814.

SOME INCREASES

The increase is due in part to increase of $2,000 for work and compensation in connection with destruction of tubercular cattle; a segregated vote of $2,000 for poultry inspection, and increase in travelling expenses by $6,000, from $12,800 to $18,800, explained as necessary.

Itemized votes show $2,000 for boys and girls' stock clubs; $4,500 for fairs; $4,500 for the Vancouver Exhibition building grant; $4,332 for the Victoria Exhibition building grant; $1,500 for the Interior Provincial Fair (Armstrong); $1,500 for the Chilliwack Agricultural Association; $1,000 in aid of the Kamloops bull sale; $6,500 for farmers' institutes (down $1,000); $12,000 for stumping powder rebates up $2,000; $1,000 for gopher extermination, and other sums for other purposes.

INDEMNITIES STAND

The House in committee voted $99,405 to cover the cost of the Legislature, and sessional staff for the year. Forty-eight sessional indemnities remain at $1,600 each, with $1,600 unchanged as the special allowance to the Leader of the Opposition. Sessional costs include votes of $6,155 for staff, unchanged, and expenses, $10,010, also unchanged.

Hugh Savage (Independent-Cowichan), was understood to propose a change in the basis of sessional indemnities, whereby each member would receive $500 as a flat indemnity, plus actual traveling expenses incurred in covering his riding.

The present plan allows no mileage, save the actual journey to and from the session. The member for Cowichan-Newcastle did not find a second. Indemnities, already cut from $2,000, will stay as they are.

LANDS DEPARTMENT

Passing on to the Lands Department, the committee passed votes in that branch after discussion on various points. Byron Johnson (Liberal, Victoria), renewed his plea for creation of a Department of Trade to co-ordinate Governmental efforts in aid of markets extension and on other grounds. Main items in the department, with last year's figures in parentheses, follow:

Minister's office, $10,748 (unchanged); salaries in various branches, $400,846 ($375,321); expenses, $111,500 ($101,500); forest protection fund, $300,000 (unchanged); lumber trades extension, $50,000 (unchanged); Canadian Forestry Association grant, cruising and forest research, each unchanged at $2,000; reforestation, $4,500 ($1,500); water surveys, $10,000 (unchanged); hydrometric service, $5,000 (unchanged); statutory (South Okanagan), $32,000 ($28,000); surveys and maps, $35,000 ($30,000); stumpage refunds on former Dominion lands, $3,900 (unchanged); publicity, $1,000 (unchanged); and other votes for other purposes.

SMALL INCREASES

All junior clerks in the Lands Department have been brought up to the minimum wage, Hon. A. W. Gray reported. Small increases of $120 per annum were voted in a few instances.

Ernest Bakewell (C.C.F., Mackenzie), objected to a grant to the Canadian Forestry Association, covering grounds already stated before House committees. The vote was approved at $2,000. Mr. Bakewell suggested a trade extension grant for pulp and paper sales in Australia, pointing to special difficulties facing British Columbia producers on this continent. Future consideration was promised.

In general discussion, R. H. Pooley (Conservative, Esquimalt), suggested a ban on export of Christmas trees to conserve young growth. R. W. Bruhn (Independent, Salmon Arm), wanted Federal action to stop log exports from Crown lands; log exports having risen to 22 per cent of total lumber shipped to the Orient, the committee was told.

FINANCE DEPARTMENT

Votes in the Department of Finance call for $1,578,915, compared with $1,507,375 last year, and $1,509,207 in the year previous. Of the total this year $570,000 is contained in statutory grants to municipalities, wherein British Columbia cities will share $20,000 more this year under motor licence revenues. This year's votes, with last year's in parentheses following, are shown as under:

Minister's office, $11,197 ($11,097); general office, $34,251 ($31,410); probate branch, $17,669 ($16,328); controlling and audit branch, $60,971 ($58,813); taxation branch, $116,588 ($110,274); British Columbia House, London, $6,962 ($11,703); Government agents, assessors, etc., $598,189 ($566,203); postal branch, $37,185 ($35,543); miscellaneous votes, $85,900 ($72,000); statutory grants to municipalities, $570,000 ($550,000); interest on superannuation and teachers' pensions funds, $40,000 ($44,000); total, $1,578,915.

BUREAU INCREASE

Increases and decreases show in the accounts. Increase under agents and assessors, etc., is $31,986. The Provincial Publicity Bureau gets a doubled grant at $30,000, up $15,000. The controlling and audit branch is up by $2,158, and the taxation branch increases by $6,314.

An Agent-General will be continued at London at $8,000, unchanged, but other costs in connection with British Columbia House will be less by $4,741, all told.

It is expected unofficially that the Government will continue W. A. McAdam, Acting Agent-General for the last year.

Elsewhere in the votes of the Department of Finance there is little change. Revenues collectable by the department are placed at $13,844,641.

The House recessed until evening, after passing most of the votes in the Finance Department, leaving little to be reviewed in that branch of the service.

AT EVENING SITTING

At the evening sitting remaining votes in the Finance Department were approved. All save an item of $30,000 for the Provincial Publicity Bureau. Members in the House asked what the Government intended to do about publicity grants for development of the tourist trade. Victoria is to get $1,000, and Vancouver a like amount, the House was informed. S. S. McKeen (Liberal, Vancouver), requested the publicity bureau vote be laid over, and this was agreed.

Passing on to the Department of Municipal Affairs, the committee voted $11,524 for that branch, as against $7,975 last year. Hon. A. W. Gray explained that a new supervisor of municipalities was being added at $3,000, and additional traveling expenses of $840 made up the remainder of the increase. The votes passed.

ATLIS AGENCY

R. W. Bruhn (Independent, Salmon Arm) presented a petition from Atlis, asking reinstatement of Mr. Wright, retired from the Government agency there under the present Administration, and letters from the Atlis Board of Trade to the same effect. Why the man had been displaced? he asked. Premier Pattullo replied that the former agent at Atlis had been the man selected by the late Administration to fill the post, created through the prior dismissal of Norman Watt, at Prince Rupert. The dismissal of Mr. Wright, he affirmed, had been "considered" in the public interest. Mr. Bruhn pressed for further reasons, but the committee passed on.

The Government is considering closing one Normal School, the committee was told.

EDUCATION

Estimated expenditure in the Department of Education is shown at $3,542,481, compared with $3,347,940 last year, and $3,103,694 set up in the year previous (exclusive of sup-

WILL COST MORE

Correspondence courses are to cost more by $5,290, with three additional instructors shown for eleven months. Inspection of schools will cost more by $11,906, with three additional inspectors of schools at $2,900 each, and traveling expenses, up $4,000. Anticipated reduction of Normal School fees by $6,400 through lessened attendance contribute all of the increase, $6,394 under that head.

Salary grants to city and district municipalities move up by $66,000, and to rural school districts by $52,000. The vote for school buildings, etc., is up by $13,000.

Miscellaneous votes include $11,000 for the education of soldiers' dependent children, up $1,000; $8,000 net for examination of teachers; $70,000 for conveying children to school; $2,000 for school libraries; $1,500 net for Summer schools, etc.; $1,513 net for official trustees in community school districts; $1,000 to print the Weir survey report, less $900 from anticipated sales of the report, and other sums for other purposes.

A new vote of $15,000 shows for recreational and physical education of youths over school age. Adult education will be continued at $15,000. Last year's vote of $6,000 for educational research and school finance reconstruction disappears this year, in consequence of the presentation of the survey report. A separate new vote is shown, however, for educational reorganization, and this is expected to cost $10,000.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL

Estimated expenditure in the Attorney-General's Department is given as $1,338,081, compared with $1,283,170 last year, and $1,312,721 in the year previous. The votes for this year, with those for last year in parentheses, follow:

Minister's office, $10,670 (unchanged); general office, $23,780 ($23,329); companies' branch, $31,613 ($26,874); censor of motion pictures, $12,468 ($10,118); sheriffs' offices, $23,923 ($22,605); official administrator at Vancouver, $8,147 ($7,984); official guardian, $3,083 ($2,994); land registry offices, $103,137 ($140,080); supreme and county courts, $59,420 ($58,117); Provincial police, $636,202 ($580,908); county gaols, $126,627 ($112,034); game branch, $170,443 ($193,942); administration of justice, $83,550 ($91,500); and miscellaneous votes, $45,000 ($38,000); total, $1,338,081.

INCREASES AND DECREASES

The increase is due in part to a salary vote larger by $28,036 than last year, believed attributable to enlargement of the service on municipal and other account. The gross cost of the police is put at $640,681; from which are deductible $110,000 in receipts under the Municipal Act, and $16,470 in rental of quarters. The net police cost is $514,211, compared with $470,255 last year; and the total net cost with criminal investigation and motor vehicle services added, $636,202, compared with $580,908 last year. Travelling expenses under the same head move up from $4,500 to $12,200, but traveling expenses with other items under the same branch are cut from $53,760 to $42,812. Net salaries in the game branch are $93,526, compared with $100,371 last year. The total vote for the game branch is $170,443, less by $23,499 than in 1934.

Itemized votes in the Attorney-General's Department as a whole show $13,785 for game fish culture; $10,000 for propagation of game birds; $35,000 for prosecutions; $40,000 for summoning and paying witnesses and jury fees, etc.; $15,000 for inquests; $10,000 for revision of statutes; a new assistant censor at $1,500; and other votes.

CAPITAL VOTES

Continuing, the committee voted capital appropriations from revenue totaling $1,493,702. This included $907,200 in interest on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway guarantee; $352,000 in redemption of securities; $224,052 for provision of sinking funds on the London inscribed stock, and smaller sums for other purposes.

A vote of $17,391 was passed for the Department of Fisheries, unchanged from last year; and one for $5,663 for the Department of Industries, also unchanged. Outstanding loans are to be salvaged, as opportunity permits.

INDIAN TRIALS

Dr. J. J. Gillis, chairman of the Liberal Caucus, was on his feet towards the close of the sitting, speaking to police costs in the Canford Indian cases, in which, he asserted, extravagance had been shown. Money had been squandered at Vernon and Merritt in connection with transportation of witnesses, he said.

Attorney-General Sloan stood in defence of the police. Not a dollar had been wasted in connection with the trial, one involving the lives of two officers who went on duty to the Indian Reserve at Canford.

Dr. Gillis reiterated his assertions, and Mr. Sloan repeated his denial.

The committee rose at 10 p.m., reporting progress, having at that hour passed more than two-thirds of the entire estimates for the year. The House continued on bills in committee stages.

TO DEMAND SANCTION FOR CUT IN INTEREST

interest rates on the city's bonded debt, Mr. McGeer declared, if the Provincial Government refuses to authorize an interest reduction, he will move at the council meeting on March 18 that the council make an arbitrary reduction to 3 per cent to apply on and after March 31.

DEFERS ACTION

The mayor had proposed to submit this demand to the council today, but he deferred action until the Government's stand is learned. "This city had better go into bankruptcy and settle for what it can. Then we can start on a fair basis," the mayor declared during discussion of the report.

"I do not agree that the city has reached that state," Mr. Bradshaw replied.

"Real estate owners in Vancouver are rapidly approaching bankruptcy," continued Mr. McGeer. "A few years more under the present system will mean complete confiscation of real estate values in Vancouver."

WOULD MAKE MONEY

Section 10, urging the city to dispose of vacant land now in their hands through tax sale, brought from Mr. Bradshaw an expression of faith that the city would "make money" from these lands. He held, however, it is not good policy for either a corporation or a city to accumulate real estate.

"Under the system you propose," the mayor replied, "50 per cent of the property in Vancouver will be in the city's hands in the next three years. Your whole report is based on the assumption of restored values."

On the question of civic expenditures, Mr. Bradshaw insisted a city should live on its current income—the amount of collections in a year plus a carry-over in the following year. The Mayor remarked the city's condition has been so desperate every dollar—current or arrears—has had to be used for current purposes.

The council proceeded to Mr. Bradshaw's proposal that the 1935 tax sale be conducted, but the mayor objected that, even if the sales were held, there would be no purchase.

SAYS WEAPON USELESS

"The fact is your most powerful weapon for collection of taxes is impotent," Mr. McGeer said. "And now you propose an additional $1,000,000 taxes on the proposed reserve in the 1935 budget."

He contended the proposed rental tax and increase in water rates are increased charges against land.

"That is not so," said Mr. Bradshaw. "Vancouver has the cheapest and best water in Canada. An increase in its cost is not a land tax. Then, on the rental tax, many people occupying houses and apartments are not bearing their burden of the benefits they receive, such as fire and police protection, education benefits and so on."

TAX ON RENTALS

He said the rental tax should go into effect this year, applicable only to residences and apartments. Business properties, he said, contribute to the city funds through licence fees. He believed such a tax, if properly administered, would not fall upon the owner, but would be paid by the tenants.

On the question of increased water rates, he made a general observation of the attitude of Vancouver citizens towards taxes.

"There seems to be in Vancouver a tendency to put off," he declared. "It is not so much the question of ability to pay. If there were more desire to meet obligations when they fall due, we would all get by more easily and satisfactorily."

Mr. Bradshaw explained his proposal for an additional licence fee revenue of $175,000. Vancouver, he said, has no business tax, as many Canadian cities have. In some centres, he said, it represents 15 per cent of the total revenue. He declared Vancouver citizens are not taxed heavily as compared with many other cities.

BUILDING WILL COMMENCE SOON

D. B. Plunkett, M.P. Says Hydrographic Survey Warehouse to Be Erected Shortly

Tenders having been called for, an early start on the erection of the Hydrographic Survey Building, near the Johnson Street Bridge, was planned, D. B. Plunkett, M.P. for Victoria, advised the directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, by letter yesterday.

This announcement was made in reply to telegrams sent by the directors to Mr. Plunkett pressing for prompt action in the fulfilment of the Dominion public works programme as it affected this city.

Mr. Plunkett explained further, that the building of the marine building in Victoria would commence at a somewhat later date as additional money for this project had yet to be voted, although the site had already been purchased.

WHITE PAPER IS DEFENDED

curity policy, or any turning away from the League of Nations.

SECURITY FOR PEACE

"In a rapidly arming world," Mr. Baldwin said, "Great Britain has delayed and delayed, hoping for the conclusion of an effective disarmament convention."

"I believe that by carrying out what we have put in the White Paper, so far from being inimical to peace, we shall have helped in our effort to make peace more secure. The country that shows itself unwilling to make what preparation is requisite for its own defence, will never have any force, moral or material, in this world."

Mr. Baldwin referred to Germany without delay. "We thought it was better to be frank in a constructive, not destructive spirit," he said. "The White Paper was frank. It was not exclusive. It was pretended, in some quarters, that Germany was the only country alluded to. That is far from the truth."

IN FRIENDLY SPIRIT

"The White Paper said nothing in substance that I did not say last November. Its terms were set out in regard to Germany in no spirit but a friendly spirit, and with that frankness which is the best prelude to friendly negotiations."

"More than ever, I am convinced that it was right. Without frankness you cannot get to the beginning, much less to the end."

TO DEVELOP A NATION'S RESOURCES

In 1842, following the union of Upper and Lower Canada, when the Bank opened a branch at Toronto to succeed the agency there, and established offices in nine other cities of Upper Canada, the Honourable Peter McGill, then president of the Bank, explained why the directors had entered upon a policy of establishing branches or agencies in the then western province:

"The Legislature having conferred on the Bank important privileges, and authorized the creation and employment of a large capital, the Board, instead of concentrating it all in the large cities, felt it to be their duty gradually to extend throughout the province the benefits derivable from the use of it by the establishment of branches and agencies at such points and in such localities as appear to them best calculated to encourage and assist the agriculture and commerce of the country, to develop its resources, and to promote the increase of its exportable productions."

Even before the union of Upper and Lower Canada, the Bank sought constantly to encourage rose factors in trade which would contribute effectively to the up-building of the country—a purpose which is as strong today as ever.

CONDUCTS CASE IN OWN BEHALF

Mrs. Ardah Campbell Says
She Prefers to Handle Her
Defence at Assizes

Mrs. Ardah Campbell, charged with the wilful breaking of windows of the city relief office on Johnson Street on January 18, 1935, without justification, or color of right, is conducting her own defence at the criminal assizes at the Courthouse here.

This course was explained by the accused when her case was called yesterday afternoon, when she said she was not represented by counsel owing to lack of funds and also because she preferred to conduct her own case.

She pleaded not guilty to the charge, but wished to know if she could not have the charge amended to strike out the reference to an absence of color of right. It was explained by Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson that this fell within the section of the code under which she was charged.

SITS AT TABLE

A table had been provided for the accused in the prisoner's box for her use in making notes, but she early made a request of the court that she should sit at the table on the main floor, which was granted. His Lordship took special care to explain to the accused the various requirements so that she would not be placed at a disadvantage.

M. B. Jackson, K.C., for the Crown, said the question to be decided was a simple one. It was whether the accused had smashed the windows or not. The duty of the Crown was to show that the accused wilfully smashed the windows in the relief office of the city. He said he undertook to show that the windows were smashed by a woman; that the accused was followed from the scene and later arrested on a street car, and that she had in her possession a hatchet

Celebration to Have May Queen Chosen by Vote

PREPARATIONS are under way for selection of a May Queen to preside over the celebrations here to be held from May 23 to May 25, Victoria Day (1935) celebration committee yesterday opened an office at 1216 Government Street. Several business firms and lodges have announced their intention of entering candidates in the contest, which will include girls from all parts of the Island. Votes will be sold for one cent each and every ticket holder will be entitled to participate in a draw for $200 in merchandise vouchers. Entries will be announced in the near future.

or similar tool with which it was alleged the windows were broken.

The accused asked for the exclusion of witnesses, which was granted. The evidence produced yesterday was practically that which was given in the court below at the preliminary hearing. The witnesses included A. B. Strawford, a plumber, who testified that in going to his place just behind the relief office he saw Mrs. Campbell breaking the windows. He was positive of his identification of her as the one who did the smashing. He had not known her before.

CHECKS ACCUSED

In the cross-examination of the witness, Mr. Justice Robertson had to check the accused in her questions directed to the witness to the effect that he must feel proud to give evidence against a working woman. She was informed that she must confine herself to bringing out evidence relative to the case.

Henry Aitkens, the janitor at the relief office, stated he had followed the woman from the scene of the window breaking as far as Woolworth's store, when Frank Smiley of the relief office staff, appeared and continued to follow the accused to the street car at Port Street. The accused, the latter said, flagged the car and got on it in front of the Owl Drug Store, the car having stopped for her there. This witness also identified the accused as the woman who had been followed, and was not disconcerted with the questions put to him by the accused.

The court, in checking the accused in her cross-examination, informed Mrs. Campbell: "You would have been better off if you had left this witness alone."

IMPROPER EVIDENCE

It became necessary for the court to warn the jury on the conclusion of her cross-examination of this witness that in the cross-examination it had come out that the witness had been informed the accused was the woman who broke the windows. This should not have been given and he warned the jury against giving any place to this admission.

Peter Brogan, the inspector for city relief, Constable Louis Gellan, who had followed the street car carrying Mrs. Campbell and arrested her, John C. Briggs, Major M. Kirkpatrick-Crockett, David Tripp, who estimated the damage at about $400, and E. C. Snowdon, the relief officer of the city, all testified to various incidents connected with the case.

The case for the Crown is practically concluded and on the opening of this morning the defence will put forward its case.

The court gave a special warning to members of the jury during the recess not to have any conversation with anyone respecting the case.

The jury as selected was as follows: Charles A. Field (foreman); Matthew W. Jamieson, Robert H. Hisecks, Raymond Wrigley, Herbert Mottishaw, Fred Rushbrook, William H. Ryan, Edward Floyd, Archibald Riddle, Edward Cooper, Daniel Knight and Charles R. B. Bagshawe.

COUGH EPIDEMIC REPORTED SLIGHT

Sanich Health Account Shows
Small Outbreak of Whooping
Affliction

A moderate epidemic of whooping cough was prevalent in Sanich during February, it was reported yesterday by Dr. David Berman, medical health officer. Forty-six cases were treated.

Chicken pox and scarlet fever cases were practically negligible. During the month some 450 children were immunized against diphtheria. Dr. Berman pointed out that the protection would last a lifetime and should result in the saving to the community of the expense of isolation and medical care should an epidemic occur.

"In presenting this report," declared Dr. Berman, "we make a special plea to parents not to send their children to school, or to allow them to mingle with others when they are not well. It is in this manner that they can co-operate with the health authorities in preventing the spread of infectious diseases."

Champion Staff Shown Pictures At Meeting Here

More than 150 local dealers were entertained by the Champion Spark Plug Company and its Victoria jobbers at an interesting sales meeting in the Empress Hotel last night.

A. J. Millard, Vancouver, British Columbia factory representative, addressed the meeting, giving a brief outline of the history and growth of his company. He also told of a vigorous sales campaign that is planned for this year, including a strong advertising programme in daily newspapers.

During the evening the large gathering of dealers and salesmen witnessed the screening of sound films showing a trip through the Champion factory; a number of animated drawings illustrating ignition systems; examples of retail selling helps at service stations; and various other shots of the company's autogiro airplane.

The feature film showed thrilling scenes from automobile and motor boat racing events in various parts of the world. The Indianapolis race of 1933 illustrated the terrific strain to which cars were subjected, and it was noted that all cars but one were equipped with Champion spark plugs.

DEATH ENDS LONG CAREER

Mrs. Jane McCurdy Dies in Seattle at Advanced Age of 101 Years

When death removed Mrs. Jane McCurdy on Sunday, in Seattle, one of the most colorful of the few early pioneers of British Columbia, was lost to this province. Mrs. McCurdy died at the advanced age of 101 years, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. C. Conover, with whom she had been staying.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Thursday, at Port Townsend, Wash.

Mrs. McCurdy was born at Wilmington, England, on June 17, 1833, and as Miss Jane Parker, came to Victoria to visit her sister here in 1861. The journey was made via Cape Horn on the old sailing vessel Retriever and took six months.

IN BOUNDARY DISPUTE

After residing here for many years, Mrs. McCurdy first married the late N. C. Bailey, later moving to San Juan Island, where Mr. Bailey owned the San Juan lime kiln in partnership with Mr. McCurdy. Some time after the death of Mr. Bailey, she married Mr. McCurdy. They continued to remain on the island and were there during the settling of the international boundary dispute. Their own property was among that in question.

For many years Mrs. McCurdy resided in Seattle, but a few years ago she returned to take up residence with her daughter, Mrs. G. W. Anderson, Robertson Street. In 1933 she observed her hundredth birthday at Mrs. Anderson's home.

RETAINED FACILITIES

A woman of outstanding vigor, Mrs. McCurdy retained all her faculties, with the exception of a slight deafness, until well over the century mark. She delighted in recalling stories of personalities and events in the early history of British Columbia and Washington.

She is survived by a son, F. J. Bailey, Port Townsend, and two daughters, Mrs. Anderson, here, and Mrs. Conover, in Seattle.

MRS. M. MCORMOND IS CALLED TO REST

Mrs. Margaret McCormond, widow of Samuel McCormond, aged sixty-eight years, passed away Sunday at the family residence, 305 Quebec Street, after a long illness. She was a native of Lisburn, Ireland, and had resided in Victoria for the past twenty-three years.

She is survived by two sisters, Miss Katie McKeown and Miss Elizabeth McKeown, both in Victoria.

Mrs. McCormond was a member of First United Church. Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson will officiate at funeral services to be conducted tomorrow at the Thomson Funeral Home at 3:30 p.m. Interment will be made in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

IMPERIAL ORDINARY LIFE POLICY

DURING the first half of life there are lots of expenses for the married man with a family. His marriage, the purchase of a home, babies, doctors' bills, the children's education, taxes—all take money. He is glad to pay, of course, but how can the average man meet all these and other obligations and still save enough money to take care of his home and family if he should die prematurely?

Nevertheless there is a plan by which he can perform these duties—a policy in the Imperial Life. The yearly deposit required for such a policy is very moderate: A man of twenty-five can secure a $10,000 policy for a premium of less than $15 a month. If he lives until his family is grown up and self supporting, his Imperial policy can provide a welcome fund or income for his own years of retirement.

If you have the impression that life insurance requires a large outlay of money, send your name and address today for particulars of Imperial Ordinary Life Policies

VANCOUVER'S FINANCES

Mr. Thomas Bradshaw, the Toronto financial expert who, at the request of the bondholders, has been inquiring into the state of Vancouver's municipal finances, sees no reason for any reduction in the interest rate contracted to be paid on bonds. It appears that there has been laxity in tax collections in Vancouver. Mr. Bradshaw says that the cancellation of the 1934 tax sale was a mistake and has had a bad influence on the collection of normal revenue. It is significant that the demand for interest rate reduction is ignored in the Bradshaw report, possibly because the investigator regarded that plea as beyond the pale of honesty. Mr. Bradshaw has made recommendations, which, if followed out, would restore the credit of Vancouver. That credit would be irretrievably hurt by repudiation through interest rate reduction.

There happily remain in the business world, as well as elsewhere, those who still agree with the remark of Cervantes made four hundred years ago, that "honesty is the best policy." It is a plain statement of an important truth. If there is one aspect of honesty which makes for the reputation of a government, a corporation, or an individual, it is the payment of bills. The principle is, it is true, far wider in its application, forgoing value received is a practice which must be carried into the higher realms of experience. Society not based on the principle of honesty is headed for decline and ultimate disaster. Through the ages, just as now, men have defied that principle; they have denied it; they have attempted to evade it because of contingencies which they say overpower the precept in practice. It is never the law of honesty that they hurt; it is themselves. One who recommends or pursues a dishonest purpose, or proposes a practice at variance with the principle of honesty has damned his own reputation in the eyes of honest men.

SCIENTIFIC SLEEP

Ten years of research work about sleep at Colgate University, where there is the only sleep laboratory in the world, have led to findings that should be of universal interest. Mr. Donald A. Laird tells something of these, writing in The Review of Reviews of New York. There are constant observations taken of persons who sleep in "vacuum bottle rooms," and their twists and turns through the night are recorded by instruments—somnokinograph—which draw in red, green, black and blue ink on a slowly-moving paper tape a record of each time a sleeper turns his head or moves a foot, and also more severe shifts of position. This is done through a "magic disk" which is attached to the top of the mattress where the hips rest.

It has been discovered that the average person moves from ten to twelve times each hour, and four to eight of these movements are complete changes of position. The soundest sleeper yet discovered through the tests moved four times an hour; the most restless moved nearly twenty times an hour, and this went on steadily during a full month of observation. There are those, says Mr. Laird, who believe they sleep like kittens, whereas they are nocturnal merry-go-rounds. He has advice to offer about the process of getting up. Lying in a horizontal position lowers blood pressure. When sitting up it pumps fifteen or more points. There is wisdom, therefore, in getting up gradually. Jumping suddenly out of bed places too much strain on the circulatory system.

There is a mistaken idea affecting cold weather which research work draws attention to, namely, that there should not be a piling of more and more blankets on top of the bed. They should be piled underneath the sleeper, because Mr. Laird points out that cold is felt at nights because the mattress is cotton and the cotton is cold. By piling wool blankets on top, one side is being made warmer while the other side, next to the mattress, by contrast, seems all the colder. The laboratory tests show that a warm wool blanket should be put under the bottom sheet, perhaps even two blankets. With the same surface temperature on each side, the sleeper is warmer and the sleep better.

Half of the benefits of sleep are due to relaxation of the muscles. Even lying awake quite relaxed means obtaining a large measure of sleep's benefits. The advice, therefore, is to relax, even in wakefulness, and it will be possible to rise refreshed. Those who sleep on their backs should never use a pillow. If one is used the spinal column may be out of alignment. On the other hand, a pillow is desirable when sleeping on either side. Mr. Laird says he has solved this dilemma by using a full-sized double bed with two pillows placed end-to-end and with a gap of four inches between their ends. When on his back his head is on the space between the pillows, his neck muscles unstretched and his spinal column in a natural line. When he turns to either side his head is supported by a pillow, and the muscles and spine are kept in proper relationship to the rest of the body.

Here are some more hints about sleeping comfortably: When lying on the side the shoulder should be settled in comfortably without twisting and without pressure. The downward arm should be placed with comfort; the hip should sink down comfortably without any twisting strain on the back muscles. Relaxation in bed is from "the ground upwards." Feet and legs relax first, then the trunk muscles, then arms, neck, scalp. On awakening there is relaxation in the reverse order. Mr. Laird's advice, therefore, is that "in coaxing quick, deep sleep we should practise relaxing neck and shoulders—the feet and legs will take care of themselves—and we will have better sleep if our bed is buoyant enough and our spirits calm enough for us to relax the upper quarter of the body as Nature so wants us to do. Sleep has depth and well as length; its value is measured not only by how many hours we are unconscious, but by how soundly we are relaxed."

SOUTH AFRICA'S PROSPERITY

The latest South African budget shows a surplus of $2,250,000, and the Union has a financial record for the current year in which revenue has exceeded estimates under nearly every head. Customs are increased on the estimates by over $1,500,000 and income tax by $1,600,000. One head under which revenues are less than estimates is the excess profits tax on gold mines, a happening which is explained by the low-grade ore mined and the use by the mines of revenue to develop new workings. The surplus is largely to be paid into various capital accounts. There is an estimate of a surplus of $2,250,000 for the next fiscal year.

Provision is now being made for the distribution of the next surplus. A new method of subsidizing the provinces is to be devised and $1,000,000 will be used initially for this purpose. All debts of the provinces to the Union Government are to be written off, involving an annual loss in interest of $60,000. Special subsidies are to be given to the Orange Free State and Natal and increased educational subsidies to all provinces. The Native Development Account is to benefit by an additional $170,000.

There is to be no reduction in income tax or petrol tax. There is to be restoration of the half-penny postage on unsealed accounts. South Africa has penny postage, which was restored last year. It is proposed to remit customs duties on various household necessities, including coffee, clocks, carpets, etc. There is to be remission of the personal tax for all natives over sixty-five years of age. During the coming fiscal year an attempt will be made to increase the amount secured through the excess profits tax on gold mines. That is now a 50 per cent tax. Mr. Havenga, the Finance Minister, is to make sure of this 50 per cent by continuing on the present basis, but adding 35 per cent to the result. There is provision for pro rata remission to the mines of an excess over 50 per cent.

The budget's soundness is widely acknowledged. It was put forward in a most conservative way without any undue claims being made, but it showed unmistakably that the Union of South Africa has made remarkable economic progress during the past twelve months.

FOR AN HOUR

I may not keep the heights I gain
In those rare hours of ecstasy
When, soaring, soaring, soaring,
Forgetting self, and winning free
From all that most entangles me,
I leave the lowly miasma plain
Of sloth and doubt and greed to be
Companion of the heavenly train
Who tread the lofty ways; who keep
A tryst with stars, nor shrink nor cower
In craven fear or sluggish sleep,
Nor seek the ease of blossomed bowers.
My earth-bound soul lacks breath and power
To hold a path so nobly steep.
Yet God be praised that for an hour
I gained the heights I could not keep.
—Winifred Ernest Garrison.

THE THINKER

Behind the invention is the inventor; behind every discovery there is the pioneer; behind every new thought there is the thinker.
The thinker is thus the real ruler of the world. He initiates new ideas, he behind great advance, and really it is he who determines the line along which mankind is destined to advance. The thinkers are the world's real leaders; can we not say that they are the world's real rulers? The pen is mightier than the sword!—Rev. E. Neville Martin, M.A.

He who has any respect for himself seems to have renounced the right of thinking meanly of others.
—Goethe.

I've never any pity for conceited people, because I think they carry their comfort about with them.
—George Eliot.

They never sought in vain that sought the Lord aright.—Robert Burns.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Why, this is very midsummer madness, Shakespeare.

There is much spouting about peace in the world these days, but what is the use of spouting about peace when there is no peace—except in spots? Sometimes we wonder after reading the morning paper whether the world is a lunatic asylum or a jungle. In the jungle, according to the exceedingly funny pictures, the white man, who has come wild-subdues the wild beasts and conquers the untutored savages. The wild man of the jungle always wins. There are wild men in what we call civilized countries these days. They have them in the United States. We have them in Canada, and some of them appear to be scattered throughout the rest of the world. There is an ancient civilization in Europe, but in the part of that continent where civilization had its beginning, sunk its roots and put forth its branches, the people are either uncivilized or are lunatics. Greek is killing Greek.

The typical wild man of the United States is Senator Huey Long, of Louisiana. Long has announced that he will be a candidate for the next presidency of the United States, and has announced his programme, probably the most alluring thing that ever has been set before a more or less intelligent people. Every man in the country is to be given a five thousand dollar home, an automobile, a radio, and an annual income of two thousand five hundred dollars, all free of taxation.

An old American song used to croon "What Is Home Without a Mother?" The modern political version of that old sentimental ditty is what is home without a motor car, a radio, and an income of two thousand five hundred dollars a year, free of taxation, and no questions asked? The celebrated optimist and philanthropist, Dr. Townsend, of Long Beach, Cal., is a political piker compared with Senator Huey Long. The California quack merely wanted to give everybody two hundred dollars a month and nothing else found. Dr. Townsend proposed keeping the home fires burning by taxing everybody. Senator Long is going to establish a real Utopia by taking from the rich and giving to everybody.

Practical economists and statisticians who do not believe in fairies and scoff at dreams may prove that all the great wealth of the United States would not be sufficient to cover the cost of the modest scheme of Dr. Townsend and that the new plan of Senator Long is the product of the brain of a madman, but the Los Angeles visionary has many millions of followers, and the wild man of Louisiana will have millions more. For generations the voters of the United States have been bribed in a small way by politicians, as in a much smaller way the voters of Canada have been bribed by practical politicians. Therefore it is not safe to say that if Long were to be a candidate for the presidency he could not be elected. In the existing political conditions and business conditions in the United States almost any demagogue could be elected. There is some truth in the proverb that a drowning man will grasp at a straw. The National Recovery Plan of President Roosevelt appears to be wrecked, and there is a lot of debris floating around which despairing people may grab in the hope of achieving physical salvation.

We cannot conceive of Huey Long being elected. A majority of the people of the United States surely are not so mad as all that. Long has been too precipitate. He has spoken too soon. He should have kept his programme under his hat until the eve of the presidential election. He should have followed the example of shrewd military tacticians and sprung a surprise. If he had done that, he might have carried the works and captured the citadel. He exposed his hand too soon. Any capable Southern poker player could have told him that. His cards are on the table. Other politicians are examining them and will be taking measures to beat them either by a bluff or calling for another new deal.

But notwithstanding the Senator's obvious mistake, there is no surety that he cannot be elected. The political conditions in Canada are not materially different from the political circumstances of the United States. The electors of Canada have done many things to demonstrate the weaknesses of democratic institutions. In this country we have our wild men, and sometimes we elect them to fill public offices for which they have but indifferent qualifications. If the Dominion and the provinces always had elected men of sound judgment and shrewd common sense, there would have been no talk about public repudiation of obligations, tearing up contracts, suggestions of bankruptcies and petitioning for receivers. If the times were normal there would be no chance of raving wild men being chosen to fill public positions of responsibility. We are told that after the deals and plans of President Roosevelt have been definitely scrapped, the business recovery which is already apparent will become a transparent fact. We trust that is a true statement, for if recovery is evident and assured, the future of the United States will not be entrusted to the charge of wild men.

CATHEDRAL AND C.P.R. FLAG

Sir,—Last year I was present at a service in the Cathedral when the flag of the C.P.R. Company was presented by a representative and received by the Dean, with the idea of hanging it in the nave. Each time I go into the church I look about and ask: "Where is the C.P.R. flag?" A rumor has reached me that some musty old law has intervened to prevent such procedure—a new ideal. Most of us are deeply grateful to Almighty God for allowing us to be transported to this beautiful portion of the earth, and by the C.P.R.—whose founders had the great faith to do something which had not been done before—enable us to cross our great country, and the great oceans and lesser waterways in fair time and comfort. We have reminders of the Army and Navy for their services in holding the fort, but none to those who would still bring in the people to possess it. Let us abide by that greater law which is now being written in the hearts of the faithful by Him who introduced that new law of love.

A. C. NIXON.

LEAGUE AGAINST FASCISM

Sir,—I would greatly appreciate space in your paper to explain a few facts about the coming conference of the League Against War and Fascism.

The League Against War and Fascism is a world-wide organization, with branches in every country. Its aim is to combat the rising tide of war and Fascism which today constitutes one of civilization's greatest dangers.

There is at present no branch of the League in Victoria. An initiative committee has been formed to set up a branch here. Over 200 invitations have been sent out to churches, trade unions, fraternal and cultural societies, etc., to attend this conference and co-operate in the formation of the League in this district.

Rev. G. B. Switzer has kindly consented to speak at the conference, and Rev. Mr. Mackenzie will occupy the chair. Guy Shepherd will also speak, and the British Columbia district committee of the League is sending a representative. The various youth groups have been asked to participate.

The public is cordially invited to attend this conference, which will take place Thursday, March 14, at 8 p.m., in the C.C.F. Hall, 724 Fort Street.

(Mrs.) S. HODGES,
Secretary Initiative Committee,

FUND FOR CANCER RESEARCH

Sir,—In your front page news of March 7 you cite the case of a woman who "cheerfully sacrificed to give to this fund—and her husband had not earned a cent for three winters!" It seems curious, unless her husband suffered from this terrible disease, or she had private means, or perhaps saw a way of making money. There are, I hope, a great many people like myself, whose principles will not allow them, in spite of their loyalty and affection for the Throne, to give one cent to a cause involving the most revolting and sickening experiments on living and defenceless creatures. At the best, it is doing evil that good may come, but the consuming and remorseless craving for knowledge of certain scientists is not invariably concerned with ultimate service for humanity; there are honors and distinctions to be won, and lucrative jobs for many.

Lord Byng, when Governor-General, refused to associate his name with a controversial subject on which doctors themselves do not agree. I am a member of a medical family, but I would not owe my life—and I have suffered much—to the torture of countless numbers of helpless creatures. We must all die, sooner or later. A fund to solve or alleviate unemployment, the worst problem of our time, would have met wholehearted response.

NINA M. HOLMES.

RATEPAYERS' ASSOCIATION

Sir,—There need be no fear that the Victoria Ratepayers' Association will cease to exist, whilst we have some public-spirited men willing to work for the overburdened taxpayer and have the courage to go ahead in the face of the apathy

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of March 12, 1885)

Corporation Wood.—The city authorities have gone into the cordwood business on the old Caledonian grounds, having employed two men to chop trees felled on the roadway. They have now about twenty cords neatly piled up. One statey elm will be allowed to remain, as it is on the inner part of the sidewalk and will beautify the street.

Real Estate.—The following sales of real estate have been made during the past couple of days: The lot and building on the northeast corner of Government and Broughton Streets to J. Lowen for $15,500; Lowen & Erb have bought the lot and building on the northeast corner of Government and Humboldt Streets for $20,000; the lot and building on the northeast corner of Douglas and Broughton Streets was sold to Dr. Milne for $17,500.

The Queen Chop House.—John Brink, finding that his place in its present proportions is not large enough for the number of people who daily resort there for refreshment, has decided to make a complete change. The counter, which has hitherto been used as a bar, will be removed, and the partitions enclosing several small rooms knocked down, making one large dining-saloon. The ranges will be transferred from the front of the building to the back, where a spacious kitchen has been fitted up.

Wild Flowers

Sir,—It was reassuring to hear from Mr. A. R. Sherwood that the society of which he is a member does not aim at making it illegal to pick wild flowers in general; only certain varieties such as the native lily or dog-tooth violet.

With regard to this species, it is natural, I presume, that it should be less plentiful in the immediate vicinity of Victoria than it was a quarter-century ago. The rapid spread of broom (not a native) in Beacon Hill Park and other localities, and the clearing of vacant lots incidental to the ordinary growth of the city and suburbs, would, no doubt, account for this. On the other hand, in the Uplands and Cudbory Bay districts, which I have known for the past twenty-seven years or so, I have noted no scarcity of the erythronium, dodecatheon meadia (peacock), slay-rathem (blue-eyed grass) or other varieties; this in spite of the fact that a considerable amount of gathering undoubtedly goes on each season.

As with most things, moderation should be the aim—not total prohibition. By all means educate the children not to pick wastefully.

Might I suggest to the Society for the Protection of Native Plants and Flowers that it devote some attention to the possibility of re-seeding in localities where (and if) there may be indications of the native lily's disappearance. It should be a comparatively easy matter to obtain abundant seeds from mountainous districts of the Island, where this variety flowers prolifically later in the season.

"Ah, you have divined. You know—er—er—"
"Yes, you want to ask me where I put your hat when you came in!"
"I simply told my husband that he must have got out of the bud the wrong side that morning, and left it at that—Letter in a Local Paper."
We hope he realized what a sworn lie was.

Too Speedy Liner Cited in Court

GLASGOW, March 11 (CP).—A trans-Atlantic liner has been "tagged" for speeding. Charged with excessive speed in the River Clyde, a 16,000-ton vessel was cited in the Glasgow sheriff's court. The vessel, it was charged, was going so fast that it set up a heavy wash, inflicting some $850 damages on two smaller ships moored at a river dock.

Tribute to Pioneer History Makers Is Given at Banquet

B.C. Historical Association Executive Commemorates at Annual Dinner Landing of First Governor, Richard Blanshard

VENERABLE pioneer history was revived last evening by the British Columbia Historical Society, on the occasion of the annual dinner, held to commemorate the eighty-fifth anniversary of the landing here of the first governor, Richard Blanshard.

An immediate outgrowth of the suggestions advanced in connection with the occasion, was the decision that hereafter the historical review will not be confined to Governor Blanshard, but will be supplemented by the story of some other pioneer of note.

The precedent was set last night, in fact, by the introduction of brief biographies of Roderick Finlayson, who was chief factor in 1850, and J. W. McKay, first chief factor of what is now the city of Nanaimo.

Twenty-four members and special guests composed the gathering last evening, with the president, Major Harold Nation, in the chair. The following others also contributed to the programme of speeches or readings: Dr. K. Lamb, provincial archivist, and librarian; Mrs. Archibald, honorary secretary of the society; Miss Alma Russell, a past-president; Mrs. Fitzherbert Bullen, Mrs. T. A. Rickard, Dr. T. A. Rickard (vice-president), C. C. Pemberton, Donald Fraser and Major Longstaff. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. G. S. McKay, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. French, Mr. Guy Langton and Miss Hilda Langton, and the guests of honor, Mr. H. D. Parizeau (chief hydrographer for the coast) and Mrs. Parizeau, and Colonel and Mrs. T. M. Knox, of Portland, Oregon.

RICHARD BLANSHARD
Very briefly the president, Major Nation, touched on the facts of Richard Blanshard's swearing in as the first governor of the colony of Vancouver's Island. His famous commission could now be seen in the Provincial Archives.

Dr. Lamb, responding in the Hon. Dr. Weir's absence, to that toast of "The Province We Live In," noted that the dinner was in reality to celebrate the eighty-fifth anniversary of the proclamation on this coast of official British rule.

Miss Russell, who spoke immediately after, endorsed the view that delving into past history was a constant incentive to learn more about those who laid the foundations, and should give new strength to the British Columbia Historical Association as well as a sense of pride in the past to the people at large.

MAKES RECOMMENDATION
Dr. Rickard responded to the toast to "The Ghost of Richard Blanshard," recalled the "ineffective" nine months that the first governor of the Island had spent in what is now Victoria. It was Dr. Rickard who advanced the suggestion that in successive years the society should associate with the celebration of the anniversary the recalling of the history of some of the great men of the past, like Sir James Douglas and other factors.

A short history of the work done by other short-lived historical societies was given by C. C. Pemberton. The first of these organizations had marked with a brass tablet the spot on which the old bastion stood. When the bastion was torn down the brass tablet had been removed to the archives and a tablet placed on the next building erected on the site of the old bastion. The British Columbia Historical Society, now extinct, had also had a historical section, whose records were taken to the archives when the society went out of existence.

FASCINATING PICTURE
One of the most intimate pictures of life in the old Port at the time of Governor Blanshard's brief residence in Victoria, was contained in the reminiscences of an old-timer, read by Mrs. Cree. This described not only the residents of the Port, including Mr. (later Sir) James Douglas and his family, Captain Grant, Mr. Benson, Roderick Finlayson, and others, but the daily routine, the dwellings, and the appearance of the country outside the Port.

The society's scribe, Donald Fraser, read an original poem, "Tomorrow," which aptly fitted the occasion of a commemoration of the kind, and Mrs. Rickard read, with clever mimicry of the Irish brogue, some verses from "An Old-Timer's Musings," which appeared in The Daily Colonist a few years ago.

Major Nation's was an important part of the programme, establishing the precedent of discussing at the Blanshard commemoration dinner another pioneer of great historical interest, in this instance Mr. Finlayson, much of the information concerning whom was taken from his own diaries.

Finlayson came from the Western Highlands of Scotland to New York in 1837, and was met by an uncle who secured him a position as apprenticed clerk in the Hudson's Bay Company. In 1839, Finlayson was ordered to join a party, then organized in Montreal, to take possession of the land leased by the Russian Fur Company, now part of Alaska.

GENIAL AND KINDLY
A very pleasing portrait of still another pioneer, J. W. McKay, whose four daughters still live on Pender Island, was given by Mrs. Fitzherbert Bullen, who recalled how, as a fifteen-year-old boy, he had crossed from the Red River colony at Winnipeg to the Pacific Coast, thence going on to Nisqually, and traveling from there with Sir James Douglas in canoe to Victoria. While still in his teens, this boy was sent twice to the Sandwich Islands, and later up to Yale and the Cassiar country in connection with the mining activities. It was he who later discovered and worked the coal mines in Nanaimo. He also

Attempt to Give Six Months' Hoist To Signals Fails

WHEN tenders for automatic stop-and-go signals to be installed at four points on Douglas Street were opened at the City Council meeting last night, Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter moved that it was both unwise and uneconomic to spend the money and that the project should be suspended for six months. His resolution was seconded by Alderman J. A. Worthington, but the motion was lost. The street lighting committee will deal with the tenders and report to the council.

Saanich: Mrs. Elizabeth McQuirrie, in Manitoba, and Mrs. Christena Halverson, at Winthrop Harbor, Ill., and two brothers, Edward G. Newton, Oxbow, Sask., and Thomas J. Newton, at Grand Prairie, Alberta.

The remains are resting at the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home and will be forwarded tomorrow to Langley Prairie, where funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Langley Prairie United Church. Interment will be made in the family plot.

SEATTLE, March 11 (AP).—A continuous barrage of campaigning, continuing into the night, brought an end to the most hotly contested off-municipal here in years, with a record-breaking vote forecast tomorrow.

The voters will elect three city councilmen and two school directors, pass upon two proposed city charter amendments, one lengthening the mayor's term from two to four years, and elect a port commissioner.

Life Insurance "Reserves" are Savings Held in Trust

FOR the benefit of policyholders, Life Insurance acts virtually in the capacity of custodian of trust funds. These funds, which represent the accumulated savings of approximately 3,500,000 Canadian policyholders, are known as "Reserves". The maintenance of these Reserves is a condition fundamental to the fulfillment of policy contracts.

Life Insurance Reserves differ from those of other financial institutions. They are by law compulsory. They are mathematically calculated to provide, from the premiums paid, a fund which, when carried forward at interest and supplemented by future premiums, will ensure the carrying out of the companies' obligations.

You, together with other policyholders, own all these Reserves. This money is YOURS. Your share may be large or small, depending on the amount of Life Insurance you own, the type of policies and the length of time they have been in force.

From the premiums which you pay into Life Insurance, therefore, fixed sums must be reserved for your future needs. Each year that you continue to invest savings in Life Insurance, you increase your individual Reserve and build financial security for yourself and dependants.

Because there are millions of Canadian policyholders like yourself, you can realize that the Reserves held in trust by Life Insurance Companies are necessarily very large. They total more than $1,500,000,000. Investment and safe-keeping of these funds are serious responsibilities.

These responsibilities fall upon the various Life Insurance Companies operating in Canada. It is their duty to set aside Reserves according to strict Government regulations, and to make investments which will adequately protect all policyholders.

Life Insurance Companies have discharged these obligations in a manner which justifies the confidence of every policyholder. They have established their Reserves on the strong basis required by the Government, and they have made certain that such funds are kept intact and are always available to fulfill the obligations to each policyholder.

Draws featured Sunday's Saanich Football League matches. In the double bill at Hampton Road, Strawberry Vale and Admirals battled to a 2-2 draw in the initial match, and Burnside and Bluebirds played to a 1-1 score in the final match. Marigold journeyed to the Indian Reservation and went down to a 4-2 defeat at the hands of the Victoria Indians.

Admirals took the lead twice in their fixture with Strawberry Vale, but could not hold off the final attack and had to be content with a 2-2 draw. Bell and Kermode scored for the Admirals, while English netted both tallies for the Vale eleven. Ralph Alcock refereed.

Burnside and the Bluebirds battled to a 1-1 score in a keenly-contested fixture at Hampton Road. All of the scoring was done late in the final half, after each team had failed to score from a penalty kick in the initial session.

Burnside took the lead when Berry scored after accepting a pass from A. Kelmán. Bluebirds fought back from the centre and Kirchin equalized one minute from full-time. Ted Hawkes refereed.

Kelpamalt, the new Mineral Concentrate from the Sea—Rich in Newer Form of NATURAL IODINE—Guarantees 5 lbs. in 1 Week or No Cash!

MEN AND WOMEN EVERYWHERE AMAZED AT RESULTS

Thousands of thin, pale, rundown folks—and even "Naturally Skinny" men and women—are amazed at this new way to put on healthy needed pounds quickly. Gains of 15 to 20 lbs. in one month, 5 lbs. in 1 week, are reported regularly.

Kelpamalt, the new mineral concentrate from the sea, gets right down to the cause of thin, underweight conditions and adds pounds of solid flesh by a "2 ways in 1" natural process. First, its rich supply of easily assimilable minerals stimulates the digestive glands which produce the juices that enable you to digest fats and starches. And these minerals are needed by virtually every organ and for every function of the body.

Second, Kelpamalt is rich in NATURAL IODINE—a mineral needed by the vital organ which regulates metabolism—the process through which the body is constantly building, firm, solid flesh, new strength and energy. 6 Kelpamalt tablets contain more NATURAL IODINE than 466 lbs. of spinach or 1000 lbs. of beef. More iron and copper than 2 lbs. of spinach or 15 lbs. of fresh cornmeal. More calcium than 1 doz. eggs. More phosphorus than 3 lbs. of carrots.

Try Kelpamalt for a single week and notice the difference—how much better you sleep, how ordinary stomach distress vanishes, how firm flesh appears in place of scrawny hollows—and the new energy and strength it brings you. Kelpamalt is prescribed and used by physicians. First for children, you. Remember the name: Kelpamalt, the original kelp and malt tablet. Nothing like them, so don't accept imitations. Start Kelpamalt today. If you don't gain at least 5 lbs. in 1 week the trial is free. 100 jumbo size Kelpamalt tablets—four to five times the size of ordinary tablets—cost but a few cents a day to use. Get Kelpamalt today. Sold at all good drug stores.

It stipulated that no person could employ a man or woman (in unenumerated industries) longer than eight hours a day. PAY TRIBUTE TO THOMAS WALKER

Resident of Victoria for Forty-Two Years Is Laid to Rest in Royal Oak Park

Impressive tribute to the memory of the late Thomas Walker, who was a highly-respected resident of Victoria for the past forty-one years, was paid by a large congregation yesterday afternoon at funeral services held in St. John's Anglican Church.

The last rites were conducted by Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick and Rev. Montague Bruce. Hymns sung were "Peace, Perfect Peace" and "Rock of Ages." The many organizations with which Mr. Walker was identified in the community were represented at the funeral, while many personal friends and pioneer residents of Victoria were present to pay their last respects to a citizen of sterling character.

A profusion of beautiful floral offerings bore mute testimony to the high esteem in which Mr. Walker was held by all who knew him. Floral tributes were received from friends, lodges and business houses including Knights of Pythias, Far West No. 1 Lodge; Rotary Club, Pacific Club, Joseph Heaney, Ltd.; Ramsay Machine Works, Ltd.; Hafer Machine Company, Ltd.; Britannia Lodge No. 73, A.F. & A.M.; Gordon Head Fruitgrowers' Association and Smith Bros' Foundry, Ltd.

Palbearers were Hon. George S. Pearson, W. F. Somers, T. J. Gocklake, W. Savage, A. A. Hockley and W. Pool. Interment was made in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

REBELS FORCED TO GIVE UP THE FIGHT

The arch-culprit, probably will escape punishment for treason. It was believed here, by fleeing from Crete in an airplane or a fast boat. His probable destination was believed to be Italy.

In case hundreds of rebel army and navy officers are put to death, Greeks and foreigners alike fear it may provoke another revolution, this time among the Populists themselves (members of the Popular Party of Premier Tsaldaris), which probably would have grave consequences.

It was expected here that the Great Powers, especially Great Britain, will counsel the Greek Government to use moderation and mercy in dealing with the insurgents in order to prevent further bloodshed.

With the close of the revolution it was thought foreigners now bottled up in Greece upon Government orders will be allowed to leave the country.

TO RECAPTURE CRETE

Now that the revolt in Macedonia and Thrace has been shattered, Premier Pangiotis Tsaldaris announced that the Government would turn its attention to recapturing the Island of Crete, according to a Havas News Agency dispatch from Athens.

The three principal mainland rebel strongholds of Seres, Drama and Kavalla fell into Government hands and the rebels, it was reported, were in full flight.

It was indicated, although not confirmed, that former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos had accepted defeat of his Macedonian and Thrace separatist state. The fate of Mr. Panayotopoulos, second in command of the rebels, remained somewhat obscure, although the Governor of

THE VIRTUAL END

A laconic dispatch from General Chialistis, commander of the Government advance guard, told the War Ministry at 3 p.m. that the loyal troops were masters of Macedonia and Thrace, which meant virtual end of the revolt on the mainland.

His message followed news of the successive surrenders of Seres, focal point of the fighting for the last week; of Drama, and of Kavalla, rebel headquarters in the northern campaign.

Premier Tsaldaris reported the Government victory in a proclamation tonight, saying: "According to information received from the front, the seditious movement has been completely suppressed in Macedonia and Thrace. The rebels dispersed as soon as the Government troops appeared."

"The Government's efforts will be directed now to suppressing the naval rebellion in the islands occupied by the rebels." (Besides Crete, the rebels hold the islands of Mytilene, Samos and Chios.)

FLARE-UP IN HOUSE OVER RISING COSTS

was not balanced, and never would be balanced if a policy of leaving out relief and sinking fund allotments were to be carried on. Australia, he said, had pared governmental costs to the marrow, and had got onto its feet in three years. "If anyone were to have increases it should be those in the lower-paid brackets," Mr. Mansson continued. "Yet here are gross salaries of $4,500 and $7,500. Where is it going to stop? Personally I am one of those who believe in saving pennies. I think there should be a drastic revision downwards," the member for Omineca concluded.

"I agree with the member for Omineca," Dr. Gillis said, rising in turn. "Nearly every department this year shows an increase in the vote. The people of British Columbia are looking for fair play and justice, and they are not getting it," the member for Yale said flatly.

NO DELUSION

"I never at any time said that the budget was balanced. I made it perfectly clear that a portion of the sinking funds and the cost of relief were being left out, as they have been in other years. I explained that the budget was balanced on current account, with the exception of those two items," Hon. John Hart rejoined.

Gross salary increases shown in the Department of Finance were in respect to senior officials occupying extremely responsible posts, Mr. Hart added.

Herbert Anscombe (Independent, Victoria) interposed to say that discrimination was necessary, and that each case should be considered on its merits. It was not unreasonable that a man supervising an expenditure of $22,000,000 should receive a gross salary of $7,500, he declared. Some others mentioned for increases he knew in person, and could occur in the action suggested by the Government. As to the budget, he said, no attempt had been made to decrease it, but the true position was plainly given.

The impression had gone abroad that the budget was balanced; whereas the facts were the budget was "balanced except," Mr. Mansson returned.

"The time has come when we must drive it home to the public that expenditures cannot be increased, but that on the other hand they should be decreased. It is the Minister of Finance that has control over the expenditures of $22,000,000, and yet here we have officials of the civil service nominally in receipt of salaries higher than members of the Cabinet," Mr. Mansson continued.

"We might very well consider not only a reduction of these salaries, but some of the other high salaries as well, and we could dispense with the services of a number of others. I invite the Government to consider carefully to see if they cannot cut from $500,000 to a $1,000,000 off this budget," Mr. Mansson concluded.

Mr. Anscombe returned, to say that his defence of the estimates was limited to the few cases in point, where he happened to know the facts and the responsibilities involved. Personally, he would like to tear the whole of the estimates to pieces, he concluded.

The vote in question carried, and the House passed on to the next item. The committee rose soon after reporting progress, at the end of the afternoon sitting.

A threat to extend the strike to 220 general cargo vessels engaged in coastwise and inter-coastal service was made by the San Pedro division of the Sailors' Union of the Pacific, an American Federation of Labor unit under the International Seamen's Union. Such a strike, union officials said, would affect 5,000 men.

PRINCIPAL ISSUE

George Larson, Coast secretary of the Sailors' Union, said the principal issue in dispute was the demand of the union for preferential hiring of its members.

Action of the longshoremen at Seattle was aimed at forcing mill docks rather than at the freighter. The longshoremen demanded that members of their International Association be employed at the dock and warehouse.

Revision of B.N.A. Act Necessary to Improve Condition

Mayor David Leeming Addresses Local Council of Women on Municipal, Provincial and Federal Problems—Meeting Endorses Suggestions

THE Local Council of Women yesterday afternoon went on record as endorsing Mayor David Leeming in his contention that social tax should not be levied on property, but on income.

"Is there any logic in the argument that the man who owns property should be forced to carry the hospital bills of the community and the cost of unemployment? Because we have put that expense on the shoulders of our property owners, we have done away with the very source of our income," the Mayor contended in the course of his talk on civic budgeting and civic administration given at the regular meeting of the women's organization in the Y.W.C.A.

REVIEWS PROBLEM

The whole question was ably reviewed. In the opening part of his talk, Mayor Leeming showed how Victoria operated under the Municipal Act, by which all municipalities in the province were governed. It was contended, however, that certain amendments to the B.N.A. Act would redound to the advantage of the municipalities in their relation to the Provincial Governments, which receive their powers under this act.

If the British Columbia Provincial Government chose to cancel any of the municipal charters, it could do so. Victoria could not amend or alter the Municipal Act. The only legal power she possessed was that delegated to her by the Province. For instance, if she wished to borrow money, she could only do so after securing 60 per cent authority from the people. The suggestion was now being advanced that municipalities should be allowed to borrow money only with the consent of the Government, and he was inclined to agree with this view.

Some of the numerous problems arising from the policy of taxing property for social services were touched upon. It was argued that this was largely responsible for the reversion of many properties to the city for tax arrears; $726,000 in taxes were ignored last year, and social services in the last three years had increased from $110,000 to $372,000.

B.C. FINANCES

The relations of Provincial and Federal budgets were also briefly touched upon, and in this connection Mayor Leeming recalled that Dr. W. A. Carrothers, of the University of British Columbia, had stated that British Columbia was paying $90,000,000 more to the Federal Government than the Federal Government was returning to the Province. Only by amendment of the B.N.A. Act could this condition be rectified.

As a sample of the injustice of the existing legislation, the Mayor cited the disposal of the tax on gasoline and motor cars. At the present time the Government collected in Victoria through gas tax between $350,000 and $450,000 a year, but Victoria did not get a cent of this. The Provincial Government kept the amusement tax, and the Federal Government received from British Columbia in excise duty on liquor not less than $16,000,000.

On motion of Mrs. William Grant, seconded by Mrs. Powers, Mayor Leeming was warmly thanked for his review of the situation with regard to municipal, provincial and Federal affairs, and the president, Mrs. C. C. Spoford, expressed the view that it was time the council settled down to a serious study of these and related problems. For a beginning, she suggested the study of the B.N.A. Act, "which apparently required some revision," for the Federal Government would not assume any responsibility that it could lay on the provinces, and the provinces would not assume any that they could lay on the municipalities.

REPORTS GIVEN

Dr. Jardine gave a report of the recent annual meeting of the Provincial Council held in Victoria.

Mrs. Hugh Mackenzie, convener of parks and playgrounds committee, reported what had been achieved in the procuring of a stamp to be used on letters, asking for the protection of the wild flowers, and also expressed appreciation of what Municipal School Inspector George H. Deane was doing in connection with propaganda in the public schools by means of lantern slides. She stated that no reply had yet been received from the City Council parks board to a letter from the council requesting assistance in the protection of the wild lily erythronium.

The Liberal Women's Forum also reported that it had not yet received any reply to a letter addressed to the city asking if anything had been done in setting aside for use as a children's playground the parking

Delightful Party Held

Mrs. F. M. MacPherson, wife of the Minister of Public Works, was hostess at a charmingly-arranged tea yesterday afternoon at her home, "Kingsrag," Rockland Avenue. Wearing a beautiful gown of deep delphinium blue chiffon velvet, Mrs. MacPherson received the guests in the drawing-room, where she was assisted by Mrs. Alex. M. Watson.

Lovely bowls of daffodils and tulips, great sprays of plum blossoms and vases of Calla lilies were used in decoration of the reception rooms. The tea table, spread with a lace cloth, was centred by a crystal bowl of pink rosebuds, blue iris and maidenhair fern. At either side pink and pale green tapers glowed in silver candelabra.

An Englishman sitting outside a cafe in a Continental city remarked casually to a companion: "In my opinion, the Emperor is a hopeless idiot!"

There happened to be within hearing distance a native detective, who immediately addressed the Englishman thus: "Sir, I arrest you for lese-majeste. You said that the Emperor is a hopeless idiot!"

"My dear fellow," said the Englishman, "I didn't mean your Emperor! There are other Emperors in the world, surely?"

"That may be," replied the detective, "but ours is the only one who is a hopeless idiot."

Need for More Care in Items Sent to Papes

Corresponding and press secretaries of organizations and clubs write to the papers ever so often to tell the public of their activities. It seems to be a "habit" with a big majority of the correspondents to treat notices and reports of meetings and social affairs with much less care than is usual for newspaper publication.

It is not infrequent, in fact it is becoming the practice, to select the smallest piece of paper possible and to try and cram onto it an intelligible report of an affair. Often the names are carelessly written, names hard to read, dates that do not conform to the calendar and sometimes poorly constructed.

Newspapers, as a rule, are glad to get items of news and to assist clubs and organizations in their work, but it becomes an almost impossible task when scores of notices have to be rewritten by members of the staff and, in many cases, completely altered to make sense.

If correspondents would remember to write their notices on regulation-size paper, using only one side, printing names and writing in ink, if typewriter is not available, and generally treating the notice with the same respect as one would a letter to a business institution, much time would be saved and the notice would have a 100-to-1 chance of being printed.

F.B.J.C.A. DANCE

ACTIVITIES REVIEWED

A resume of the year's activities, which had been most successful, was read by the secretary, Mrs. Dowell. The membership now totals ninety-six. Among the outstanding social affairs had been the reunion dinner at the Beach Hotel last May; a silver tea and bazaar in aid of the bursary fund, and two or more parties.

The $100 bursary was won by Miss Connie Todd, a 1932 graduate of the hospital, who is now doing post-graduate work in pediatrics at the Infants' Hospital in Vancouver.

The sick nurses' benefit fund, started in 1927, and to which 75 per cent of the membership dues is devoted, now totals $917.57, and provides assistance to nurses during times of illness.

The total receipts for the year were $715.37, and the expenditures, $441.51, leaving a bank balance of $273.85.

Reddy Tries to Arouse Blacky's Pity

—By THORNTON W. BURGESS

All the next night as Reddy Fox hunted for something to eat he kept thinking of that dream of his when he had been wondering how he could get Blacky the Crow to tell him just where those fat hens were. Blacky the Crow on his part had spent a whole day wondering how he could induce Reddy Fox to make that long journey to where Bowser the Hound was a prisoner of kindness. Blacky was smart enough to know that if he seemed too anxious for Reddy to make that long journey, Reddy would at once suspect something. He knew well enough that if Reddy had any idea that Bowser the Hound was over there nothing would tempt him to make the trip.

Early the next morning, just as on the morning before, Blacky stopped over by Reddy's house. This time Reddy was already home. Actually he was waiting for Blacky, though he wouldn't have had Blacky know it for the world. As soon as he saw Blacky coming he lay down on his doorstep, and pretended not to see Blacky at all. "Good morning, Reddy," said Blacky as he alighted in the top of a little tree close by.

Reddy raised his head as if it was all he could do to lift it. "Good morning, Blacky," said he in a feeble-sounding voice.

Blacky looked at him sharply. "What's the matter, Reddy?" he demanded. "You seem to be feeling badly."

Reddy sighed. It was a long, doleful sigh. "I am feeling badly, Blacky," said he. "I never felt worse in my life. The truth is I—I—I—"

"You what?" demanded Blacky, looking at Reddy more sharply than ever.

"I am feeling badly," Blacky, said he.

"I am starving," said Reddy very feebly. "I certainly shall starve to death unless I can find some way of getting at least one good meal soon. You have no idea, Blacky, how dreadful it is to be hungry all the time." Again Reddy sighed, and followed this with a second sigh and then a third sigh.

Blacky looked behind him so that Reddy might not see the twinkle in his eyes, for Blacky understood perfectly what Reddy was trying to do. Reddy wasn't fooling him a bit. When he looked back at Reddy he was very grave. He was doing his best to look very sympathetic.

"I'm right," sorry to hear this, Reddy," said he. "I certainly am. I've been hungry myself more than once. It seems a pity that you should be starving here when over on that farm I told you about yesterday are fat hens to be had for the taking. If you were not so weak I would be tempted to show you where they are."

SALTSPRING

The Saltspring A.Y.P.A. met at the home of Miss C. Cunningham, Central Settlement, recently, the president, Miss Margaret Purdy, in the chair. A report was read by the president, of the recent Mid-Island conference, held at Courtenay, and which she and the treasurer, Arthur Robinson, had attended. The next Mid-Island conference will be held on Saltspring Island in April, when twelve delegates are expected from various parts. Arrangements were for a play, "Pa's New Housekeeper," on April 26. ### VICTORIA AND DISTRICT

A large and interested group of young people gathered on Friday evening at St. John's Church, to hear an address given by Rev. Harding Priest, Western field secretary of the General Board of Religious Education Rev. A. M. Acheson-Lyle, chaplain of the local council, acted as chairman. A welcome was extended by Rev. Canon Chadwick. Mr. Priest took as the topic of his talk, "Young People," and gave a general view of the work of the A.Y.P.A. throughout Canada, dealing with leadership, programs, meetings, worship, work, fellowship and education. A graphic comparison was drawn between the play, "Are These Our Children," and the book, "Larry." He urged all young people to seek self-expression in worthwhile endeavors instead of by the so-called pleasures of today. A hearty vote of thanks was extended Mr. Priest. Mr. Acheson-Lyle spoke a few words on Camp Arlberg, which will be held from July 15 to 22, inclusive. Although plans are not yet definitely arranged, the programme proves to be even better than previous ones. A most delightful ceremony took place prior to the address, when Mr. S. C. Hawkins of the advisory board of the Dominion Council of A.Y.P.A. presented the charter to the Chinese A.Y.P.A. of the Good Hope Mission of Victoria. Mr. Maurice Chan, president, received the charter. In a few words Mr. Hawkins said this was the first and only Chinese branch in Canada, and that, with the Japanese branch in Vancouver, the only foreign branches of A.Y.P.A. During the intermission, Miss K. Brown, of St. John's, rendered a well-received pianoforte selection. John Hooper, vice-president of the local council, conducted a lively sing-song, which was followed by refreshments. Miss Mabel Holyoke in charge.

I.O.D.E. Activities

Ganges Chapter
A review of the year's work was given at the recent annual meeting of the Ganges Chapter, I.O.D.E., at Salt Spring Island. A Fowler surgical bed, several sheets and pillow committees.

Municipal Chapter

The executive of the Municipal Chapter will meet at headquarters of the Ganges Chapter, I.O.D.E., at this morning at 10:30 o'clock to receive reports of officers and standard committees.

slips, curtains, breakfast and dinner, china, etc., had been donated to the I.O.D.E. room in the Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital. A subscription had been given to the hospital and new bedding given when the hospital was in quarantine. Miss Cooke, provincial educational secretary; Mrs. Curtis Sampson, provincial president, and Mrs. L. A. Genge, Victoria Municipal regent, had visited the chapter during the year. A library had been sent to Dawson Creek superior school, supplemented by a donation of books from individual members. The Canadian Geographic Magazine and a box of books had been sent to the local high school, and calendars to the hospital, High School, and other schools on the island. A successful garden party, a rummage sale, a tag day, telephone bridge party, etc., had been successful. Mrs. W. E. Scott, the regent, had been presented with a life membership.

"Life Is Not Very Kind TO WOMEN"

A friend remarked the other day. The womanly system is a bundle of nerves. From the time when the maid becomes a woman until the "change of life" period, there are repeated critical times. When the nervous system is severely strained. If good health is to be maintained. The nervous system must be supplied with an abundance of rich, red blood. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food goes to form new, rich blood. And is of the greatest benefit to women. At these critical times in her life. The pale, anaemic girl. The mother whose strength is sapped by childbirth and nursing. The woman who is nervous about middle life. All benefit remarkably by using this time-proven restorative.

BOARD GIVES ENDORSEMENT

Chamber of Commerce Favours Single Administration for Relief and Insurance.

Recommendation of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, to be presented to the Dominion Government, urging that both unemployment insurance and unemployment relief, although financed out of different funds, be administered by the proposed Federal commission to be set up under the new Employment and Social Insurance Act, was endorsed by directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce at luncheon in Spencer's dining-room yesterday.

Endorsement was also given to an attached recommendation. It stated: "There should be adopted a registration system for identifying the unemployed, similar to that provided in the Employed and Social Insurance Act for the identification of those actually employed."

"LOSS LEADERS"
Deplored the policy of certain retailers in selling special articles at prices below cost to attract customers to their stores, the directors heartily endorsed a recommendation submitted by Frank Partridge, which read as follows:

"That the Victoria Chamber of Commerce wishes to go on record as deploring the present prevalent use of 'loss leaders' by retailers to attract business, and that the selling of the products of the farm below cost or without a fair margin of profit to be condemned as inimical to the welfare of the people as a whole."

"And that the chamber is decidedly in favor of the establishment of fair trade boards, as petitioned for to Federal and Provincial Governments by the Retail Merchants of Canada."

GIVEN ASSURANCE
There is little likelihood of the Dominion Government agreeing to the proposal of Prince Rupert that the base of one of the Canadian destroyers be removed from Esquimalt to that city. D. B. Plunkett, M.P. for Victoria, and C. H. Dickie, M.P. for Nanaimo, advised the directors.

A copy of a resolution from the Canadian Fisheries Association urging that Premier R. B. Bennett appoint a full-time Federal Minister of Fisheries was received by the directors, but not endorsed. The question was referred to a special committee.

J. V. Johnson reported that the delegation comprising members of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and the Courtenay-Comox Board of Trade that recently visited the Provincial Government with a view to having the main highway between Merville and Campbell River permanently surfaced, received a sympathetic hearing and assurance from Hon. P. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, that he would do his best in this regard.

What Today Means

"PISCES"

If March 12 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:45 to 11:45 a.m., from 1:45 to 3:45 p.m. and from 7:45 to 9:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 6:45 to 8:45 a.m., from 3:45 to 5:45 p.m. and from 10:45 until midnight.

Do not let anything discourage you on this date. The wheel of fate spins with marvelous speed, and there is a strong probability that at the present time it is weaving a bunch of good fortune for you. Plucky determination is all that is needed to surmount most difficulties.

The trend of business will in all likelihood be optimistic, and results should reflect this feeling. Any tendency to inflate values may prove poor judgment, so it may be advisable to be conservative. Sociability may afford you advantageous opportunities, so should you be invited out it might be a good idea to accept. Married and engaged couples, as well as those hopeful of becoming affianced, will find that any form of subterfuge resorted to on this date is more than likely to cause a lot of trouble, so it will pay to be frank, as well as above board in everything.

If a woman, and March 12 is your birthday, the quicker you learn that there are, usually, "two sides to every story" and that people do not as a rule deliberately ignore their social or financial obligations, the happier life will become for you. Learn to seek the cause of an annoying action, and a good reason will be usually turned up, which probably will be thoroughly satisfactory. Feelings of antagonism creates discontent. As they usually spring from the seed of misunderstanding, you will be wise not to let them dominate your thoughts. You have many splendid qualities, as well as a depth of character. Educational, social welfare, missionary, as well as research or office detail work, should offer both an interesting as well as profitable line of employment. Through marriage you should find a great deal of happiness.

The child born on March 12, generally when it reaches its teens displays an unusually amount of poise. Usually its parents are very gratified by numerous complimentary comments made regarding its self-possession and conversational ability.

If a man, and March 12 is your natal day, you will have an easy road to success if you will literally "do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Mechanical engineering, manufacturing, medicine, law, as well as some specialized line of writing, may offer the opportunity for realizing satisfactory results.

Java is very mountainous and is remarkable for the number of its volcanic peaks, forty-five in all.

SHIP REALLY CITY AFLOAT

Normandie to Have Hospital Equipment for Community of 25,000

When the new mammoth steamship Normandie leaves her pier at Havre on her maiden voyage to New York next May, she will present for the consideration and judgment of the world of medical and surgical science and general health-building as well, the most complete hospitalization and recuperative equipment yet made available to sea voyagers.

With a carrying capacity of 2,000 passengers and a crew of more than 1,300, the Normandie is described as a veritable floating city, and announcements now made indicate that the equipment of the new ship will be equivalent of the most up-to-date hospital and health establishment enjoyed by any average community of 25,000 population.

THREE DIVISIONS.

There will be constantly available a general hospital in three divisions; a medical and surgical clinic, an emergency and convalescent hospital for passengers, and another and similar hospital for the crew. Every modern and scientific invention and discovery approved by leading authorities in the field of medical advancement in recent years is being installed, including equipment for complete emergency dental treatment and the general science of health building. The ship's doctor will be in charge, with two assistant doctors under his direction, one assigned to the infirmary annex, and one to the main hospital.

Three trained male nurses, two registered female nurses and two male student nurses will be in attendance. Passengers may communicate with the ship's doctor from their staterooms by telephone at any time, and will find it possible to continue any average health-building routine or special medical treatment they may have adopted on shore. A spacious consultation room will be available on the "B" deck near the main hall.

APOTHECARY SHOP

For what is believed to be the first time in sea passenger service, the Normandie will maintain for the convenience of her guests, an apothecary shop which will approximate the regulation drug store as the same is known in North America, excepting that the ship's "drug store" will carry no books, hardware, confections, toys, food-stuffs or sporting goods. Any bona fide prescription, however, brought from shore, can be filled aboard ship, and formulas issued by the ship's doctor during the voyage, may be filled on shore if the passenger so desired.

Another important innovation on the Normandie will be a complete X-ray installation, permitting the doctors to examine passengers or crew for bone fractures and other internal disabilities; through both radiography and radiology.

Scheme for New Station Is Advanced

Victoria could provide and maintain a first-class radio station, with additional grants from the Dominion Government, if the $25,000 that local radio owners pay annually into the Federal Treasury were returned to the city. It was stated by James Fletcher, yesterday, at a luncheon meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce directors.

This statement was made following the reading of a letter from Hector Charlesworth, chairman of the Canadian Radio Commission, in which he spoke of the local station as being of "rather an obsolete character." He also pointed out the financial difficulties of connecting Victoria with the Mainland.

REPAIRS WILL BE TEMPORARY

Taibun Maru Suffered Loss of Many Plates Against Vancouver Jetty

Repairs of Ss. Taibun Maru, damaged on Saturday when she struck No. 1 Jetty while proceeding to a berth there, will be carried out in temporary manner at Burrard Drydock Co. Ltd., at a cost of about $8,000. The ship will then load fuel for Japan and proceed there to discharge, after which she will enter a Japanese drydock for permanent repairs.

She suffered loss of many plates and a ruined stem, the bows were fractured, and the forepeak was flooded, but the bulkheads held and there was no water damage.

Burrard Drydock Co. Ltd., bid $15,000 for permanent repairs, and approximately $8,000 for temporary repairs. This morning instructions were received to proceed with the temporary work. It includes removing of about a dozen damaged plates on the bows, to be replaced by new ones. The work will occupy about ten days or a fortnight, it is estimated.

THE LOVE FLIGHT

by JACQUE DORR

CHAPTER XIV

Anne sat at a table in the round boudoir, her eyes filled on the shopping list Berta had interrupted. Madame boomed on, but her meaning was a jumble of words, meaningless to Anne, as the items she had written in her notebook were meaningless, a jumble of words that danced and blurred against the white page. She tried to grasp the pencil firmly, to direct it to follow her command, but her fingers had lost their control.

Who came to force their way into this new world of hers, to disturb the slender security she had won for herself? Lately she had felt as though she might have reached reasonably solid ground, as though she were actually making progress. Madame had confidence in her. The other servants, save only Berta, gave her a grudging approval, accepted her as one with them, if not of them. And Carl—she and Carl were the best of friends, the most understanding of comrades, against that time when, the fates willing, they might be something more.

And now—was she to lose this precious foothold gained by the sheer doggedness of her will, her determination to be free of the wasters, of the peacocks and panderers?

Who would seek her out in this her voluntary exile? Bruno Beasley? No. This was scarcely a man's business. Mrs. Bruno? Yes. Bee Bee would be likely to thrust herself into a situation which promised the unusual. Bee Bee's curiosity would carry her where the archangels themselves walked in fear.

"You'd better stop at Ardene's," Madame was saying. "Get some of that junk for my face. The pink kind that smells like geraniums. I got a hide like leather, anyhow, but down here it's worse than a pair of old rubber boots. Don't let 'em stick you with a lot more beauty truck—it's no use with a face like mine."

A light knock at the door. "Come in," Madame boomed. Suddenly Anne's throat felt as though a noose had been slipped about it, jerked tight. Breathing was painful, a rasp. The door opened, Yvonne closed her eyes, space was filled with fiery darts—she opened them again.

Majda Suydam, tall and haughty and trembling with angry excitement, had come into the room. "Anne! My cousin demanded, halfway to the inert figure at the table. 'What is the meaning of this?' Her head moved imperiously, taking in the room. She ignored Madame entirely in the swift invoice.

Anne rose from the table. Majda's insolence afforded a tonic for courage. Strength flowed back into Anne's limbs, indignation knocked at the portals of her mind and loosened her tongue. She ignored the question—the curling "this." "Why have you come, Majda?" she asked. "Why do you insist on making a tangle of other people's lives? You've no right to intrude on the privacy of Madame. Nor on my privacy, for the matter of that." "I'm making it my right," Majda's nose, always thin and peaked, drew to a sharp point. Her prominent slate-grey eyes were opaque and hard as flint. "It's no fault of mine you happen to belong to a family which has a few vestiges of pride left, in spite of all you and your fa—" something warned her to retreat—"in spite of all you do to destroy them."

"If you're the keeper of the family pride," Anne said coolly, "you might keep the skeletons out of hearing. Madame Hoag is not interested."

Majda made a slate-grey raking survey of Madame—as though, for the first time, she were aware of an alien presence. She discarded Madame with a lift of her plucked brows.

"I've come for you," she said shortly. "Pack your things at once. I shall wait."

"There's no use issuing orders," Anne's indignation broke through. That Majda should dare ride the high horse over Madame in Madame's own house. "I've no intention of obeying them. I was employed here. I work for Madame. I assist her maid. I shall go on with my job—unless Madame doesn't want me, now that you've kicked up such a row."

"I think Mrs. Hoag will be able to dispense with your services. She probably doesn't know who you are—that you are Anne Austin, and that you are trying deliberately to shame your family, to degrade and mortify us. Why, heaven only knows, there's been enough of it—without you."

Anne caught the significance. Her father! The screaming headlines—Banker Shoots Self Cleaning Gun—Accident—Austin Fortune Wiped Out—the innuendoes, that clever all the bullet was not an accident.

"Be careful, Majda. Even I might forget that Madame is present," Anne's face was a mask, a white frozen mask.

"Don't mind me," Majda cleared her throat the better to add her part of the dialogue. She was rather enjoying this unexpected encounter. She was like a sturdy old war-horse scenting battle.

"Then I am to understand," Majda addressed Madame, "that you will no longer harbor my cousin in your house?" And so saying, she touched a match to the flare of Madame's temper.

"You're to understand nothing," Madame boomed, "unless I tell it to you. Fifi here is my maid and a damn good one. If she's somebody else, too, it's none of my business."

Whadda you mean bustin' into my house and pesterin' my servants? Who are you, anyways? A nerve you've got. Clear out! Scat! Fifi and me are busy."

Majda drew in her breath between pointed white teeth, expelled it again in a short hissing sound that was part terror of this gaunt Amazon with the flaming hair, part wrath at the crudeness of her dismissal.

"I shall wait outside in my car until Anne comes to her senses," she managed.

"You'd better not try it," Madame chuckled. "You might starve to death waitin'. Fifi, do you want to stay here at Bow Jolly?" She did not boom at Anne. Her voice had that maternal note she used when she spoke to "papa."

"Yes, Madame," Anne pleaded. "Oh, I do want to stay. I want to stay more than anything else—I must stay."

"Then stay," Madame picked up the cup of coffee she had poured just before Majda entered and tossed it off.

"I don't suppose there's any use of reminding you, Anne, that there's Jock and the children," Majda had found a straw to throw out and cling to.

"Who's Jock and the children?" Madame wanted to know. "Never mind, Fifi." This was Madame's fight now. She'd taken it over. "Jock is my husband. The children are—our children." Smug Majda—smug and grand about what was here.

"What've they got to do with Fifi?" "They have this to do—Jock can take care of Anne, in her own way, among her own people. We'll do it—gladly—rather than have this. If she's going to disgrace the children."

"Aw shut up blathering about disgrace!" Madame roared. "You'd think Fifi'd been robbing poor boxes. If your kids are the kind that can be disgraced by a little good honest work they ain't worth raisin'. It'd be better to tie 'em up in a sack and drown 'em."

A strangled scream of protest against what her own ears recorded, of shocked horror, escaped Majda. She turned and fled from the room.

Anne sat again at the table, trying to concentrate on her list. She couldn't. She owed some explanation to Madame for Majda's intrusion, for her insolence. Madame could very easily have sent her packing for bringing such disturbance into an already troubled household. Madame owed her no loyalty except what she had earned by conscientious service. For this Madame had paid in cash.

"I had no idea she's come here," Anne said suddenly, looking up from her notebook straight into the brooding eyes of Madame. "I have deceived you, Madame—about my name. It was Anne Austin. But I'm not Anne Austin, not any more. Not since I broke away from them—from Majda and the others. I'm Anne Brent—I want to be Anne Brent—I've a right to be Anne Brent. That other one—Anne Austin—is dead. I want to keep it dead. I want to bury her deep down where she can't come back to life and to threaten and sell herself to the highest bidder—"

Anne paused for breath. She had forgotten Madame. She had forgotten Majda. There was only herself, Anne Brent. She wouldn't go back—and leave Anne—leave Carl. She sobbed, quick frightened sobs that tore at her throat.

"Easy now, Fifi. Just you take it easy," Madame was comfortable in the face of such bald emotion. "No one's goin' to pester you into makin' a monkey of yourself, not while you're under my roof."

Anne's sobs subsided. She ought to tell Madame why she had changed her name, why she had thrust Anne Austin behind her and struck out blindly, hopefully, as Anne Brent.

"I changed my name—" she began, her eyes wide, staring into space. "I changed it because—"

"Never you mind about that," Madame spoke almost harshly. "If you want change your name it's your own business. Far's I'm concerned you're Fifi. Go put some cold water on your face so we can finish that list. It's gettin' on toward noon."

Anne rose obediently. Half an hour later she was in the blue car with Carl, bound on her errands. But Majda's visit had left her more than a little wan of lips and cheeks.

"Heads up," Carl leaned close, spoke gently against her ear. She realized then that she had been drooping into silence, into an unawareness even of his presence while the scene through which she had just passed joggled through her mind.

"Oh—I—I was thinking," she said lamely. "Obviously," he smiled into her eyes, encouraged her to smile. "I could hear your mind ticking. When her smile came he said, more soberly, 'Mayn't I help?'"

She shook her head. "Not—just yet." She'd have to get to solid ground alone. "I'll be standing by."

"I know. Knowing that makes me keep my head up."

It was the nearest that either of them had ever come to a confession of what was in their hearts.

That evening Madame dismissed Anne as soon as Anne had finished helping Bats with the toilet for dinner.

"You get out, Fifi," she said kindly. "Go some place. Have some fun. You're too young to be moping. Bats'll clear up. I won't need you till morning."

It was Carl's night off. They would go places together.

Would Continue To Appeal for Special Grant

Calling on the directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce to continue to press for a large money grant for tourist publicity purposes, R. H. B. Ker asked the board at luncheon yesterday to advise the Vancouver Board of Trade that it would be glad to support any further petition to the Provincial Government.

Mr. Ker expressed his regret that the Government had not seen fit to grant $50,000 for advertising, as sought last week by Vancouver and Victoria business men.

He considered the Government did not see that the grant would be a tax returns which would be increased with the additional tourists attracted to this province through advertising.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you efficiently sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a more movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes three good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. Buy at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Don't become a victim of Cathartics!

No one can blame any man or woman for trying to overcome a condition of habitual constipation. Incomplete elimination is a constant menace to health. But doctors will tell you that strong purgatives, harsh mineral salts and drastic cathartics do not get at the source of the trouble. Such makeshifts aggravate, gripe, nauseate and call for constantly increased dosage. Eventually they do more harm than good.

Eno's "Fruit Salt" is the gentle, pleasant way to regularity. A dash of Eno in a glass of water makes a pleasant, refreshing drink. It sweetens the stomach, helps digestion, clears the intestines of poisonous, trouble-breeding waste, helps to purify the blood stream, tones up and normalizes the entire system. And Eno forms no laxative habit; you never have to increase the dose.

Thousands of people have been deceived by imitations of Eno, but remember, Eno has been tested by millions all over the world. For over 60 years it has been helping those who have to "take something now and then." Eno is one safe aid to natural elimination which doctors take themselves and recommend to others.

If you want to know how pleasantly effective Eno is, get a bottle from your druggist and take your first refreshing draught tonight—and another before breakfast or lunch tomorrow. You'll be on the road to freedom from habitual constipation—the cause of many minor and major ailments. And you have the satisfaction of knowing that there isn't an atom of harshness or harm in a whole carload of Eno's "Fruit Salt".

2♠	Pass	2NT(1)	Pass
3♠(2)	Pass	3NT(3)	Pass
5♠(4)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1. North is not sure that South has eleven minor suit cards.

2. By rebidding the shorter length, South indicates the six-five distribution.

3. North persists in the hope that South will take his word about the major suits and play for the nine-trick game instead of the eleven trick

4. South decides that the minor suit game offers a better chance.

THE PLAY

West opened his top heart, East winning with the ace. Had East listened attentively to the bidding, he would have realized that if two additional tricks could be secured in the minor suits they could be obtained at any time; but the only chance to obtain another trick in the major suits was to return a spade immediately. But East supinely returned a trump, probably remembering the old adage, "When in doubt, lead trumps." The saying did not apply to this hand. Declarer took two rounds of trumps, ending with the jack in dummy and discarded his spade on the king of clubs. After this the opponents could take one diamond trick.

Had East returned a spade, West would have taken his ace, and though declarer could have obtained three diamond discards on the established major suit cards in the dummy, he would still have had to lose to the king of diamonds.

Bruins Headed for American Division Title; Defeat Wings

Great Eddie Shore Nets Deciding Goal in Overtime to Give Boston Double Triumph Over Week-End—Rangers in Deadlock

By A. E. PULFORD
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Inspired by the leadership of the great Eddie Shore, Boston Bruins are on their way to the National Hockey League title series. There was little doubt left about that today after Bruins had whipped Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit Red Wings over the week-end, leaving Chicago three points behind with four games to play. There was no doubt at all that Bruins if they do win the American Division, will give Toronto a tooth-and-nail fight for the championship. With Shore playing hockey as only he can, Bruins came from behind three times Saturday night to whip Leafs 7-4 before 14,213, largest crowd of the season in Toronto.

Then Boston went into Detroit Sunday night and defeated Wings 2-1 with Shore scoring the winning goal in overtime. Their pair of wins gave them an edge that Black Hawks, who tied New York Rangers 1-1 Sunday night, probably will find it impossible to overcome.

The week-end battling served to wipe the last chance of any change in the International section, leaving Toronto, Montreal Maroons and Canadiens finishing in that order. Bruins, Hawks and Rangers will represent the American division.

GIVES UP HOPE
Tommy Herman's Maroons gave up hope of catching Toronto Leafs when they were beaten 4-2 Sunday night in New York by Americans. Canadiens lost 5-3 to Detroit in Montreal Saturday night and Rangers beat Hawks at St. Louis, 5-1, in their best showing lately.

Sloppy defence work cost the Leafs several goals. The players in front of George Hainsworth blocked his view, lost the puck in their skates, and allowed Bruins to snap it up, and generally gave the little netminder no sort of a break.

Bruins tied the score three times in the first two periods and then swept in for four goals in the third. Marty Barry and Charlie Sands each scored a pair, and "Hay" Haynes and Dit Clapper got the others. Charlie Conacher bagged a goal and an assist to bring his total points to fifty-three, one more than he made last season. Buzz Boll, Harvey Jackson and Pep Kelly scored the other three.

Bruins topped off a good season series with Wings last night, their win giving them five victories and a tie in their six meetings. Tied after their Toronto game, Bruins fell back on a defensive game after the week-end, leaving Chicago three points behind with four games to play.

Johnny Sorrell tied it up in the third, on a passing play with Cooney Weiland and Herb Lewis. After five minutes of overtime Shore got the winning goal on a pass from Red Beattie.

Detroit had shown better form in Montreal the night before. They led Canadiens at all times but were never so far ahead, they could be sure of victory. Byd Howe and Johnny Sorrell led the marksmen. Howe getting two goals and Sorrell a goal and two assists. Lewis and Buck McDonald got the others. Aurel Joliat, veteran left winger, scored twice for Habitants and Leroy Goldsworthy notched the third.

Frank Boucher, Ranger centre, looked good in their victory over St. Louis, scoring a goal and two assists. Rangers got three tallies in the first two periods before Joe Lamb brought Hawks into the picture with his early third period goal. Earl Seibert, Lynn Patrick, Cecil Dillon and Bill Cook joined Boucher as Ranger scorers.

LYNN HELPS DILLON
Dillon and Young Patrick combined for the goal that gave the New Yorkers a tie at Chicago, Dillon scoring after almost six minutes of the third period. Howie Morenz had given Hawks a goal lead in the second.

With Roy Worters performing splendidly in goal, Americans were too much for Maroons at New York. It was their first triumph over the Montrealers in five games this season.

Old Rabbit McVeigh gave the New Yorkers a lead in the first period, and after Herbie Cain tied it up, Fred Herberts put them in front again. In the third Ohs Heximer and Art Chapman scored for Joe Simpson's team before Cain could notch his second Maroon counter.

Postman—Bad luck, Pat. Here's a black-edged letter for you. Pat—Sure, 'tis my poor brother, Mike, that's dead. I'd know his handwriting anywhere.

Another String of Maple Leafs

Rugby Delegates Endorse Move of Victoria's Union

Local's Bid for Change in Constitution of Provincial Body Is Step Nearer After Meeting in Vancouver—Two-Man Board to Govern Sport Is Aim of Victorians

VANCOUVER, March 11 (CP).—Victoria's bid for a change in the structure of the British Columbia Rugby Union, at present considered too unwieldy, was a step nearer tonight after delegates of the Vancouver Rugby Union unanimously endorsed the Island Union's request for equal representation and a two-man executive board to govern the sport in the province.

The necessary adjustments in the British Columbia body's organization, however, will be held up until certain points brought up at tonight's meeting have been settled.

In order to put the two-man executive into effect, Varsity and North Shore agreed to drop out of the British Columbia Union. In return they would be given permanent seats on the board of control of the Vancouver Union. This would have left the Vancouver and Victoria unions alone, each of which would have selected a representative for the governing board.

WOULD STAY IN
Varsity delegates tonight announced they would not drop out of the provincial union, contending that such a move might jeopardize their future in the McKechnie Cup and International series. North Shore's agreement to drop out was contingent on a similar step by Varsity.

The Collegians, however, agreed with the rest of the meeting, that Victoria should have a more equal representation on the governing body, and to this end endorsed the two-man idea.

Delegates of the Victoria and Mainland unions will meet here on Saturday, following the McKechnie Cup game, in an attempt to iron out their difficulties.

CRAFTY ALICE IS SCRATCHED

Horse Is Withdrawn From Grand National—Golden Miller Favored

LONDON, March 11 (CP).—Tom Wall's Crafty Alice was officially scratched from the Grand National Steeplechase today. The horse developed shoulder lameness after a workout some days ago.

Today's call-over of odds left Dorothy Paget's Golden Miller, winner last year and top weight for the race on March 29, steady favorite at 4 to 1. J. M. Whitney's Thimble II remained second choice at 15 to 1, with Delaneige 100 to 7, Reynoldstown 18 to 1, Alexena 28 to 1 and Nouseau 40 to 1.

For the Lincolnshire, first big handicap of the coming flat-race season, to be run March 27, Flamenco and Commander III were split favorites at odds of 100 to 8, with Maila and Circular Saw 100 to 6, Bendix, Lost Soul and Gay Venture 18 to 1. ## Officials Named for Ribbons Varsity Series on the Mainland

VANCOUVER, March 11 (CP).—Officials who will handle the three-out-of-five-game series between Victoria Blue Ribbons and University of British Columbia in the British Columbia men's senior "A" basketball final were announced tonight by Ken Walton, secretary of the British Columbia Basketball Association.

Al LeMarquand, of Victoria, and Ralph Thomas, of Vancouver, will handle the first game here Friday night. Bob McMillan, of Vancouver, will team up with the Victoria arbiter in the second game here Saturday night.

Joe Polley and Alf Perrin, both of Vancouver, were named for the third and fourth games, to be played on March 22 and 23, at Victoria. No provision was made if a fifth game becomes necessary.

LeMarquand will handle the women's senior "A" final here on March 22 and 23.

FORMER KING OF HEAVIES IN EASY WIN

Max Schmeling Scores Technical Kayo Over Steve Hamas

HAMBURG, March 11 (AP).—The answer to Max Baer's prayer for an adequate heavyweight challenger in June may be Max Schmeling, now in the midst of a comeback as stirring as any in the annals of the division. The terrific beating Schmeling handed young Steve Hamas before a howling crowd of 25,000, yesterday rent the Teuton's stock high, and apparently gave him the inside track for a title match with Baer this summer.

Looking more and more like the Schmeling of the days when he punched his way to the world's championship, the German cut down Hamas in nine rounds, and gave the New Jersey star so unmerciful a lacing that the crowd was yelling for a halt as early as the seventh round.

Coincidentally with Schmeling's victory, evening a defeat he suffered at Hamas' hands in Philadelphia a year ago, it was revealed that Baer and his manager, Ancil Hoffman, had been offered $300,000 for a Schmeling-Baer title match this summer. The match would be subsidized by the German Government and held in the New Olympic Stadium in Berlin.

Schmeling weighed 169 pounds and Hamas 190.

BAER BOUT ASSURED
NEW YORK, March 11 (AP).—Max Schmeling's fine comeback against Steve Hamas is pretty sure to earn the Black Ullan a crack at Max Baer's title this summer, but whether the match will be staged here or abroad remains in doubt.

Right now there are three possibilities: One is that the two heavies will perform under the banner of Madison square Garden, which claims to have both tied up by contract. Another is that Mike Jacobs will bag the plum for Mrs. W. R. Hearst's milk fund. Baer and his manager, Ancil Hoffman, have sworn they will never fight again for the Garden, contract or no contract. On the other hand, they are very friendly with Jacobs and his co-promoters.

The third possibility is that the champion will accept a $800,000 guarantee for an international bout with Schmeling in Berlin, in which event the German Government will subsidize the bout.

James J. Johnston, Garden matchmaker, says he will not hesitate to take the courts to enforce his contract rights provided Schmeling stands out as the logical heavyweight challenger when the open-air season rolls around.

TO OPPOSE UNITED TEAM IN INTER-CITY GAME AT ENCLOSURE

Victory for Victoria Against Invaders Will Put Them Up in the Standings—Jimmy Hay Will Be Back on Local Half-Line—Squad Is Practically Same as on Sunday

VICTORIA, March 11 (AP).—The opportunity of witnessing another Mainland football eleven in action Saturday afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park when the North Shore team makes its season's debut against Victoria United in an Inter-City League fixture. The kick-off is set for 2:45 o'clock, with J. C. Dowds handling the whistle.

Victoria United is enjoying a most successful season in inter-city competition, with the attendances for the fixtures at the enclosure being the largest in many years. The local club is playing good football and has only dropped one match in seven starts. Five times Victoria United has emerged victorious against the other strong elevens in the province, once they suffered defeat, while in the other match they gained a draw.

SELECTS TEAM
Yesterday evening the executive members of the club met in The Colonist board room and named the team for Saturday's match against the North Shore eleven, which, with one exception, will be the same as that which started against Nanaimo at the Up-Island city on Sunday.

Louis DeCosta, peer of British Columbia veterans, will be between the sticks, with Sammy Esler and Ab March, sturdy fullbacks, in front of him. The intermediate line, often spoken of as the strongest portion of the Victoria United club, will see the return to the line-up of the veteran Jimmie Hay, who was unable to play at Nanaimo on Sunday on account of injuries received the day before in a Jackson Cup match at the Royal Athletic Park. Ronnie Williams, hard-working and aggressive halfback, and the clever Roy Barnes will complete the well-balanced and smooth-functioning intermediate line.

YOUNG FRONT LINE
With George Payne on the left flank and Gordie Bell in the opposite lane, the firing line of the Victoria United eleven, will carry plenty of speed, shooting ability and youth. In the centre forward position will be "Scotty" Robinson, sharpshooting youngster, and he will be flanked on the right by "Scotty" Stewart and on the left by Noel Morgan. Morgan has also been named captain of the local eleven.

Harper, Gibson and Campbell are the substitutes and will be ready to jump into the game at a moment's notice.

With this well-balanced eleven, officials of the Victoria United club feel confident their proteges will be able to take the measure of the North Vancouver team and improve their standing in the Inter-City Football League.

The Mainlanders in their last performance at Vancouver dropped a 3-1 decision to the New Westminster Royals, former Canadian champions, and will be figured to give the locals plenty of opposition.

GOLF SQUADS WIN AND LOSE

Macaulay Point and Gorge Vale Clubs Break Even in Inter-Club Match

Winning on their home links by 6 points and losing away from home by 9, teams representing Macaulay Point and Gorge Vale clubs broke even in the inter-club golf match, played Sunday. The foursomes ended 10-6 and the singles 10-5-5-1.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT . . . . . By Ripley

EXPLANATION FOR SUNDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
A Battery Cannot Store Electricity—An electrical storage battery does not store electricity as its name would seem to imply. The battery stores chemical energy which is converted into electrical energy by the act of discharging. In charging a battery we convert electrical energy into chemical energy for purpose of storage. Electricity, like all other forms of energy, cannot be created or destroyed. The energy of a given type may be converted into energy of another type, but there is always an exact relation between the quantity of energy that disappeared and the quantity of the other type which was generated. This principle is known as "Conservation of Energy."

The Tiniest Railroad Train—What is undoubtedly the smallest and slowest working model of a train, and the world's costliest for its size, is the tiny engine and two cars made by J. Martin, watchmaker, of three-eighths inches in length and the whole train stretches out to eight inches. It runs by clockwork on a crack four and a half feet long, taking two and a half hours to cover the distance while traveling at a speed of about three miles a year.

CONACHER PASSES SCORING MARK OF LAST YEAR

Ace Sharpshooter Of Toronto Leafs Far Out in Front

Five Points During Last Week Put Wingham Ahead of 1934 Record—Sid Howe and Frank Boucher Tied for American Division Leadership—Aurie Is Next

CEC DILLON

MONTREAL, March 11 (CP).—Big Charlie Conacher, ace wingman of Toronto Maple Leafs, went over the top this week, passing his mark of last year when he ended the National Hockey League season as leading scorer and making certain that, barring a freak scoring by one or two distant rivals, he will lead again this year. Scoring four goals in one game to equal the season's record in that regard, Conacher totaled five points during the week, bringing his goals to thirty-two, even with his final figure of last year, and his assists to twenty-one, one more than a year ago, for a total of fifty-three points in forty-five games, compared with fifty-two points in forty-eight games last year.

All leading scorers secured a good share of points during the past week. Syd Howe, Detroit left wing, got five to tie Frank Boucher, of New York Rangers, for top spot in the United States Division, each with forty-two, the same number with which Jackson holds second in the International Section.

Although well down the list, due to only nine assists, Cecil Dillon, of New York Rangers, has advanced to second place among goal scorers with twenty-four, second only to Conacher. Art Chapman, of Americans, and Boucher are the leading playmakers, each with 31 assists.

Championship Fixtures Will Keep Squads Busy

Victoria Basketball Quintettes Have Extensive Campaigns in Vancouver Island and British Columbia Title Contests—Three Games Here

As the 1934-35 basketball season nears its conclusion, play-off fixtures will keep Victoria game quintettes busy this week, with no less than seven championship fixtures carded.

At the Victoria High School gymnasium tomorrow evening, two Nanaimo squads will be seen in action against local teams, while the third game in the programme will bring together two Victoria quintettes battling for the city championship.

STUDENTS MEET BEAVERS Chinese Students and Beavers, intermediate "B" boys' squads, will clash in the second game at 8:30 o'clock. This is a replay of a previous game won by the Beavers, but ordered played again by the Sunday School Basketball League, when the protest of the Chinese Students was upheld by the Vancouver Island hoop body. The students will go into the fixture with a fourteen-point lead, which they established in the first game of the series. Total points will decide the champions.

MAKES CORRECTION

Sports Editor, Colonist. Sir—In my report of the final match of the ping-pong tournament at Metropolitan Church last Friday night, I stated that Loue beat Browne-Cave, 2-1 and 21-14. This was a mistake, for actually Browne-Cave beat Loue, 18-21, 21-12, 21-14. Could you insert a few lines into your columns, correcting this mistake? Thanking you in advance, I remain, yours truly,

ERNEST L. BISHOP.

For the purpose of organizing the Esquimalt Polo Club, a meeting will be held at the residence of Major A. G. Piddington, 441 Lamson Street, tomorrow evening, at 8 o'clock. Officers for the 1935 season will be elected, and other important matters discussed. All persons interested in the formation of the club are invited to attend.

LOCAL ELEVEN AND NANAIMO PLAY TO DRAW

Soccer Teams Battle to 5-5 Draw in Intercity League Match

NANAIMO, March 11.—Both Nanaimo City and Victoria United soccer teams were lucky to get a 5-5 draw here on Sunday at an Inter-City League fixture, according to the supporters of both teams. "It was a game of many thrills, and was in doubt until the last minutes of play. Nanaimo led at half time 4-2, but could only score once in the second half, while Victoria scored 3, and up to four minutes of full time were leading, 5-4.

On the play, Nanaimo did most of the attacking, but were not as effective when they got close in as were Uniteds, and the latter's goals came from breakaways and splendid long wing passes from their half lines. Nanaimo, on the other hand, played a prettier short-passing game, but many times their last play went amiss, or DeCosta, in goal for Victoria, made a phenomenal save. He stopped one penalty kick from the boot of Uke Gray, and made other saves which were freely applauded.

Nanaimo was at full strength, Jimmy Knight, veteran center half, being back in position after several weeks' lay-off. Frank English was fast as usual at right wing, and was indirectly responsible for more than one goal. The first counter of the day came from his boot, when after three minutes of play, he took a corner kick, sent it in front of goal so close that Essler, in trying to clear, sent the ball into his own net.

BELL OUTSTANDING

Bell, for Victoria, was probably the best forward on the field Sunday. He was fast and dangerous all the time, and was responsible for several goals. Bud Sandland, left-winger for Nanaimo, was another outstanding forward. The play, nearly all through the game, was of the end-to-end variety, although Nanaimo forced more corners than the visitors. They earned two in the first half, and seven in the second, while Victoria were granted five in all by Referee Gunniss.

Twenty-five minutes after Nanaimo had scored its first goal, Bell took a corner kick for Victoria. He lifted the ball well over to Payne, on the other wing, and the latter drove it through to tie the score at 1-1. Edmunds was forced to concede a corner, and with Victoria forcing strong from the flag-kick, after thirty-five minutes of play, they went into the lead, when Stewart scored a leebard ball from Payne. Three minutes later Jimmy Tantrum, Nanaimo centre forward, tied the score at 2-2 when he took a pass from Waugh on an offensive started by Knight.

With only seven minutes to go

MISS PHYLLIS DEAVILLE
With the recital of March 15 only three days away, Victoria's newest and one of the highest-ranking choral organizations, the Meistersingers, are prepared to offer to the Victoria concert patrons one of the most elaborate and interesting programme yet presented here.
The recital will be given in the Shrine Auditorium in aid of the Fairfield United Church.
Included on the programme are solos, featuring members of the Meistersingers' group who are recognized as the outstanding individual soloists of Victoria; duets, chorus selections from operas and operettas and choral and solo sections.
OUTSTANDING NUMBER
One of the outstanding selections to be given is "Glory and Love to the Men of Old," a delightful presentation from the score of Gounod's opera "Faust." This will be sung by the complete ensemble, which is directed by Frederic King.
Miss Phyllis Deaville, who has won major awards in local musical festivals, as well as honors on Victoria concert platforms, will be heard in duets with other members of the Meistersingers. Miss Deaville rose to local successes as a graduate of the chorus of the Victoria Operatic Society. While with that company she took leading roles in "The Geisha" and "Robin Hood."
